GERMANS BRIDGE DON RIVER

RUSSIANS TELL OF SLAUGHTER IN ROSTOV BATTLE

Enemy Presses On in Caucasus.

MOSCOW, July 27 [Monday]—(AP).—German troops have bridged the lower Don river in their steady drive into the Caucasus, and have penetrated deeper into Rostov behind swarms of Nazi tanks, the Russians acknowledged early today.

Soviet artillerymen fighting desperately from the southern bank of the Don in the Tsimlyansk area 120 miles east of Rostov, hurled tons of explosives into the Germans on the north bank, but dispatches said at least two Nazi bridgeheads were established.

An early morning war bulletin said nine of these pontoon bridges were smashed, spilling Nazi troops, guns, and trucks into the reddening Don, but the Germans hurled reserves into action to replace the fallen.

Situation More Alarming.

Red Star, the Red army newspaper, said the situation was more alarming than on Saturday.

Ten times the Germans hurled well-prepared offensives against the Don defenses in the Tsimlyansk sector northeast of Rostov, said Red Star, and, while scores of tanks were sunk in the river and hundreds of German bodies were left floating downstream, two of these attempts have succeeded.

While bombers just flown from the United States and British and American tanks were playing vital rôles in widespread battles elsewhere in southern Russia, one of the fiercest fights of all was going on at Rostov.

Battle in the Outskirts.

At Rostov the Germans hurled tank masses and assault guns into the effort to wrest from the Russians the key city perched on the west bank of the river.

"In the Rostov area fighting is raging in the outskirts of the city," a midnight communique said. "Our troops are inflicting heavy losses on the attacking enemy forces. One small group of soviet infantry alone in one day with anti-tank guns, machine guns, and incendiary bottles destroyed nine German tanks and killed hundreds of Hitlerites.

"In another sector the enemy hurled large tank forces into battle. Despite tremendous losses the enemy succeeded in advancing."

The communique said the Red army still was fighting stubbornly at Novocherkassk, 20 miles northeast of Rostov, and at Tsimlyansk, 120 miles to the east.

Move Up Fresh Divisions.

Of the Tsimlyansk area the communique said:

"Our troops continue to fight stubborn defensive battles, repelling numerous German attempts to cross to the southern banks of the Don." But the Russians said the Germans were moving up fresh divisions to the Don.

Soviet airmen and anti-aircraft gunners attempting to slow the German tide were credited with destroying 299 Nazi planes in the week ending Saturday. Russian losses were listed as 137 planes for the same period. [The Germans said 128 Russian planes were destroyed on Friday and Saturday and their own losses were 8.]

At the upper end of the long Don front in the Voronezh region the soviets said their troops still were gaining ground against the Germans.

Smash 4 Nazi Regiments.

In one sector of that front on the German left flank the Russians said the Red army in three weeks' fighting wiped out more than four Nazi regiments, and 328 tanks, and captured large military stores, including 400 machine guns, 560 automatic rifles, 46 mortars, and 20,000 shells.

Red Star said 400 tanks were battling in the eastern bend of the Don where the Germans had hurried up new legions for a massive push toward the river, where they would be within 45 miles of Stalingrad. But the newspaper added that the Russians had gained an early advantage because the Red air force had struck the Germans before they could get ready for battle and had done great damage.

[A British military observer in London said the Germans "appear to be well on the way toward Stalingrad," but said it was possible they would be content to secure the west bank of the Don to protect their flank

3 Killed as Train Hits Picnic Truck

11 HURT IN RAIL TRAGEDY NEAR MICHIGAN CITY

Children on Way to Church Outing.

(Pictures on pages 2 and 6.)

Three persons were killed yesterday and 11 hurt, two possibly fatally, when a South Shore electric train bound for South Bend struck a truckload of children going to a picnic. The crash occurred at highway 12 and county line road on the western edge of Michigan City, Ind.

The dead were:

Injured in Two Hospitals.

The injured, all but one from Whiting, were taken to St. Anthony's and the Clinic hospitals in Michigan City. Those in St. Anthony's are:

At the Clinic hospital:

Speeds to Make Up Delay.

The children, all parishioners of St. John the Baptist Catholic church in Whiting, left in midmorning in two trucks for Washington park in Michigan City. In the first truck were about 40 girls and in the second more than 30 boys and eight girls. The second truck was delayed by a flat tire in Gary and the first truck had arrived at the picnic ground long before the accident occurred.

Witnesses said Solomon approached the crossing, equipped with flasher signals, at a fairly high rate of speed and attempted to stop when he saw the train was close. The surging of the children in the back of the truck, however, made this impossible. He then attempted to beat the train across.

Sisters Learn of Death.

The truck was struck just back of the cab and was demolished. Solomon, Celenica, and the Pavliscak boy were in the cab. The latter was dug out of the sand by rescuers who found him almost buried at the side of the highway. The Mateja boy was in the back of the truck and was the only one killed there. His sisters were at the picnic in the truck ahead and did not know of his death until late in the afternoon.

The motorman was Victor White of South Bend. M. A. Sheeler, also of South Bend, was the conductor. The train was due at the Michigan City station at 12:26 p. m. and was running on time.

Another Crash Kills Woman.

Miss Adeline Zataraga, 18, of 8831 Exchange avenue, died of injuries suffered earlier yesterday when an automobile in which she and three companions were riding was struck by a Pennsylvania train at Racine avenue and 111th street. In serious condition are Miss Alice Kulik, 16, of 8806 Exchange avenue, and Robert Skoniecki, 18, of 3939 East 91st street. The driver was Eugene Ramsey, 21, of 8446 Kingston avenue, who suffered head injuries.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 407 persons had been killed in Cook county by automobiles since the first of the year. Of these 317 lost their lives in Chicago, where 11,680 had been injured.

The manufacture of certain types of garments and the use of nonessential trimmings will be prohibited after tomorrow.

Men's suits will have single-breasted, two button coats, and cuffless trousers, with the number of pockets limited. Overcoats will be limited to the single-breasted fitted types and the straight box coat.

3 ARE DROWNED IN FOX LAKE; 4 OTHERS RESCUED

Samuel G. Fecura, a lawyer, of 2330 Lowell avenue, another man and a boy were drowned yesterday when their rowboat was overturned by the wash from a speeding motorboat in Fox Lake, in Lake county. Four other persons were thrown into the water, but were rescued.

Samuel G. Fecura.

Victims with Attorney Fecura, who was about 50 years old, were John Anderson, 5, of 2234 Fletcher street, and Arthur J. Wittchem, 41, of Fox Lake, a carpenter. Those saved were Fecura's wife; the Anderson boy's sister, Florence, 7, and Mr. and Mrs. George L. Franklin, whose address was listed as 7131½ Grand avenue. Franklin is a painter.

The seven were in the rowboat 30 feet off shore near the new summer home of the Fecuras. Suddenly the speedboat raced past, capsizing the rowboat. Franklin saved himself, his wife, Mrs. Fecura and the Anderson girl by helping them cling to the sides of their boat. Scores of people saw the accident,

Sheriff Faces Slot Machine Inquiry Today

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

The Cook county grand jury is expected today to question Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, Democratic wheel horse, on his inability to stop the slot machine syndicate headed by Jack Guzik and Edward Vogel from operating in hundreds of taverns.

Tony Fragassi.

As a result of the gambling syndicate's mistake in threatening a Tribune photographer-reporter with violence if he sent his office a picture of a slot machine in operation, State's Attorney Courtney's investigation yesterday uncovered links in the mysterious communication system which enables Vogel and Guzik to stop and start hundreds of slot machines at will.

Crime Body Urges Action.

Bertram J. Cahn, president, and Virgil W. Peterson, operating director, respectively, of the Chicago crime commission, said last night that the latest move of the syndicate might well prove its undoing if the grand jury makes an aggressive inquiry.

The story of the Tribune picture and its repercussions begins with action Friday night. The photographer, Chester Nichols, walked into Uncle Tom's tavern on Waukegan road north of Northbrook. A member of the grand jury had just exposed the fact that scores of slot machines were operating in the taverns of the southern portion of the county.

Nichols was instructed to see if the same situation existed in the north end of the county. As evidence that the machines were running wide open Nichols snapped a picture of a "one armed bandit," in action.

Syndicate Action Traced.

They learned that the proprietress of the tavern immediately called Niles 9807 to tell the syndicate representatives of the picture.

The syndicate went to work. A few hours later Tony Fragassi, a slot machine syndicate representative, and a companion, called on Nichols. Fragassi dared to threaten the photographer in the Evanston police station.

"Fragassi told me I'd get my head bashed in if I didn't quit snooping around where there were slot machines," Nichols said. "He told me to think of the safety of my wife and family before I made use of the story and picture of the slot machine in the tavern."

Vogel Linked to Threat.

Nichols has since identified a picture of Edward Vogel as that of the man who accompanied Fragassi and remained in the background while Fragassi warned him of the ire of the slot machine gangsters. Vogel is known to the prosecutor's office and every month a new grand jury hears that he is the man behind the machines.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief of Courtney's investigators, arrested Fragassi Friday night. All Saturday Fragassi denied that he worked for Vogel and Guzik. But yesterday Capt. Gilbert's men and Casimir Cwiklinski, assistant state's attorney, took Fragassi into the Circus bar, 8105 Cicero avenue, Skokie.

"Hullo, Tony" said the bartender, James Phemios, not realizing that Fragassi was a prisoner for whose release a writ of habeas corpus was issued and made returnable for this morning.

The bartender then told Cwiklinski that he knew Tony as a slot machine collector who formerly used his place of business as a headquarters. He said that more recently Tony had been "working" for the syndicate in the vicinity of Wheeling.

State's Attorney Courtney declared

Congressman Rips 'Stupidity' of War Chiefs

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 26.—Demands for the removal of "incompetents" in high military positions and for the improvement of weapons for American armed forces were voiced today by Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson [D., Tex.], who has just returned from four months' duty with the Pacific fleet as a lieutenant commander.

Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson fired a barrage of criticism against weaknesses in American military organization in a broadcast to his native state of Texas in which Speaker Sam Rayburn and Rep. Wright Patman [D., Tex.] interviewed the congressman on his experiences with the navy.

White House Favorite.

Johnson has returned to his seat in the house in accordance with the recent request of the President that members of congress in the armed forces resume their duties as legislators. He is regarded as a White House favorite and was the President's choice for senator from Texas in the primary on June 28, 1941, being defeated by a narrow margin by W. Lee O'Daniel now running for re-election.

Johnson not only called for removal of high ranking generals, admirals, "and others in high military positions," but he also declared that American fighting forces must be supplied with much better equipment if they are to be successful on the various fighting fronts. Navy fighting planes now in use in the southern Pacific, where Johnson saw combat service against Japanese-held Lae and Salamaua in New Guinea, are no match for the Japanese Zero fighters, he declared.

Urges Housecleaning.

"We have nothing to fear from our men," said Johnson. "If we get them the goods, they will deliver. We must get rid of the indecisive, stupid, selfish, and incompetents among our generals, admirals, and others in high military positions.

"We must make it clear that it is no longer a crime to cut red tape. We are going to have to give our men leadership and equipment superior to that of any in the world. We are going to have to move quickly to coordinate dive bombers and domestic politics, tanks and military strategy, ships and the will of the people. Management and man power are going to have to be closely woven into a smoothly functioning machine devoid of departmental squabbles and petty jealousies."

Assails "Flying Crates."

As to comparisons between our army and navy fighting planes and those of the Japs, Johnson declared:

"We needn't fool ourselves about the invincibility of our pursuit ships. Those Japs have a real fighter plane, and we have a long way to go before we can rear back and rest on our laurels.

"I'd just as soon try to weather a storm riding on the tail of a box kite as I would to face the fighting Jap Zero with one of those navy PBY crates some of the boys are now flying. It's just like matching a race between a Model T and a Lincoln-Zephyr."

Tells of Raid on Lae.

As to his own experiences in a bombing raid over Lae and Salamaua, Johnson related:

"On June 9 at Port Moresby shortly after daylight we joined an army bombing group assigned to conduct operations in hostile territory. Two hours later Jap Zeros intercepted us. Most of our squadron of bombers were hit with fire from the Jap Zero cannon.

"The plane in which Anderson [an army colonel who went to Australia with Johnson] was riding was repeatedly hit. My pilot, a flight leader, quickly dived his crippled plane out of the formation toward the sea because of mechanical trouble. The plane in which Col. Stevens [another army officer from Washington] was riding and all the crew were shot down. Gen. MacArthur awarded Stevens the distinguished service cross posthumously."

STORY OF NAVAL PLANES' FIRST SMASH AT JAPS

New Guinea Victory Told by Johnston.

(This article by Stanley Johnston, Chicago Tribune correspondent and the only reporter to witness the battle of the Coral sea, was one of his original series on that memorable sea action. When that series was given by The Tribune to the newspapers of the world, naval censors requested that the American attack on Lae and Salamaua (northern New Guinea ports occupied by the Japs on March 8 as possible springboards for attacks on Australia) be not published on the theory that it might give assistance to the Japanese war effort. Recent developments have caused naval censors to withdraw most of their objections and herewith is presented for the first time the thrilling story of the American attack on those bases from which the Japanese within the last week have begun an advance under the heavy fire of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's bombing planes. This story, as were the other nine of Johnston's series, is given free of charge by The Tribune to the press of the world.)

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON.
[Tribune Foreign Correspondent.]
[Copyright, 1942, By The Chicago Tribune.]

The clouds, high, white and fleecy, hung over the towering, wild peaks of southeastern New Guinea. Those ramparts of rock climbed 14,000 to 16,000 feet into the tropic skies effectively guarding the Japanese-held ports of Lae and Salamaua from any inland assault. And Japanese seaplane squadrons patroling the northeastern shores of Australia and the Islands of Melanesia for 500 miles in all directions reported there was no sign of enemy planes or vessels.

Thus it was that the Japanese, with vigilance relaxed, filled up these two harbors with their warships, tankers, supply vessels, and transports. They were preparing for an advance from New Guinea, parts of which had been occupied weeks earlier, against the Australian mainland. Lae and Salamaua, being only 20 miles apart, were being used as jumping off points for the invasion forces.

Japs Prepare Leisurely.

The preparations were proceeding leisurely because the Japanese commanders knew that the nearest soldiers, fleets, and aircraft of the united nations were at Port Moresby. This harbor, still under allied control, was 1,500 miles away by sea, all the way around the southeastern tip of New Guinea. Clearly there could be no surprise attack from there.

And yet, out of those innocent appearing clouds on the early morning of last March 10, came avenging airmen of the United States navy in the first war raid in which any of our seaborne air hornets had taken part. Out of the wilderness skies of central New Guinea—a land where live the only peoples still dwelling in stone age conditions—came dive bombers, torpedo bombers, and fighters that smashed this Japanese force in 20 action crowded minutes.

Ancient Concepts Finessed.

This raid demonstrated perfectly how naval air strength has—to borrow a term from the family bridge circle—finessed the ancient concepts of sea fighting. The airplanes taking part delivered in this short period as much explosive against the enemy as could the broadsides of a fleet of a dozen heavy battleships.

This great story never has been told in its amazing details—which prove that the American spirit of originality and willingness to dare is not lost.

Official navy announcements released with the news that the famous old Lexington had fulfilled her destiny and been sunk in battle, mentioned briefly that her fighting pilots, bombers, and gunners had taken part in an action at New Guinea. But the inside story, the airmen's story, is revealed now for the first time.

Japs Had Held Initiative.

I shall now take you to sea at a period when the Australians and Americans were reeling under the successive Japanese victories in Malaya, Singapore, Sumatra, Java, and in the Philippines. It was a time in which the Japanese had been continually on the offensive. They had held the initiative, and had not been checked on any front.

TEXANS REJECT SMEAR, PILE UP O'DANIEL VOTES

Radicals' Purge Getting Nowhere Fast.

Polls 48% of Ballots

Dallas, Tex., July 26 (AP).—Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel tonight faced the probability of a run-off election as 90 per cent complete returns gave him 48 per cent of the votes cast in the Texas senatorial primary—2 per cent short of the required majority. The latest tally gave O'Daniel 398,439 votes; James V. Allred 269,057, and Dan Moody, 152,227. Gov. Coke Stevenson was well ahead of Hal Collins in the gubernatorial race.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 26.—The tremendous vote polled by Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel [D.] in the Texas primary yesterday, a vote foreshadowing his probable renomination, adds fresh and impressive evidence that the purge and the smear of prewar noninterventionists engineered by the Roosevelt administration, the Marshall Field press, the Henry Luce press, and affiliated radical groups is getting nowhere fast.

In the congressional primaries in 15 states up to date, candidates for more than one-fourth of the senate and house seats at stake have been chosen. Not a single prewar noninterventionist specifically proscribed by the so-called Union for Democratic Action and the pinko New Republic has been defeated so far. The only house candidate on this left wing blacklist who has been defeated for renomination is Rep. Charles I. Faddis [D., Pa.], a prewar interventionist who was condemned by the radicals as a reactionary. Of other sitting members defeated, four were noninterventionists before Pearl Harbor while six were interventionists.

Senators on List Win.

O'Daniel is one of three senators marked for the purge by the Union for Democratic Action and the New Republic with the support of their affiliated groups. The other two are Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], who was renominated by a landslide vote last April, and Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], who seeks renomination next week.

The architects of the smear and the purge expressed their confidence on the eve of the Texas primary that O'Daniel would run no better than second. They sorely misjudged the Texas electorate. The latest figures show O'Daniel so far in the lead that he has nearly as many votes as his two rivals put together. The complete returns may give him the majority necessary to nomination. But even if the decision goes to a runoff primary, the tremendous margin of votes favoring O'Daniel virtually assures his ultimate victory.

Dies Also a Winner.

The only Texas congressman blacklisted by the purgers is Martin Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities. Dies was renominated without opposition. The purgers were unable to induce any one to run against him.

Earlier in the week the purge and the smear came a cropper in the Montana primary in which Rep. James Francis O'Connor [D.] was renominated despite blacklisting by the pinkos.

The only senator who has lost out in the primaries so far is William J. Bulow [D., S. D.]. He was opposed to the Roosevelt war policy before Pearl Harbor.

South Dakota Rebuffed Purge.

The four defeated representatives who were noninterventionists before our country was attacked are James C. Oliver [R., Me.], Charles R. Robertson [R., N. D.], Benjamin Jarrett [R., Pa.], and George A. Paddock [R., Ill.].

In addition to Sen. Brooks, Illinois prewar noninterventionist Representatives Stephen A. Day, Everett M. Dirksen, Charles S. Dewey, and Jessie Sumner, Republicans marked for the purge by the administration and the left wing groups, were overwhelmingly renominated.

National Junior C. of C. Opens New Headquarters

New national headquarters of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce were formally opened yesterday on the 20th floor in the La Salle hotel. National officers attending the ceremonies included William M. Shepherd, president, of Pine Bluff, Ark.; Benedict G. McDonald, treasurer, of Kansas City, and Ernie Hertz, vice president, of Billings, Mont. The organization has 120,000 members, 23 per cent of whom have entered the armed forces since Pearl Harbor.

ALP RIFT WIDENS IN DISPUTE OVER MEAD CANDIDACY

New York, July 26 (AP).—A split in the American Labor party widened today as a committee of the party's left wing charged that a group from the right wing was plotting with James A. Farley too defeat Sen. James Mead for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The accusation came in a statement issued by "the Progressive committee" composed of such ALP members as Rep. Vito Marcantonio, chairman of the ALP New York county committee; Eugene P. Connolly, secretary of the committee, and Morris Watson, chairman of the "Progressive committee."

It was in reply to a statement by 23 ALP members under the name of the "Liberal and Labor committee" which declared support of left wing convention delegates would cause large scale public defections from the party.

Declaring that David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies' Garment Workers [AFL], was behind the move, the "Progressive committee" asserted that the "Liberal and Labor committee" stand was "an attack, not upon us," but upon the second front and the win the war policies of the President."

Retiring Gov. H. H. Lehman today indorsed Mead as "a candidate around whom all groups can rally."

FINGERPRINTING 'MUST' FOR N. Y. AIDS, FAMILIES

New York, July 26 [Special].—An executive order requiring all city employés and members of their families to have a New York City war identification card, which in most instances will mean compulsory fingerprinting, has been issued by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, it became known today.

The mayor's communication was received Friday by the heads of all city departments and agencies, and shortly thereafter bulletin boards in many city offices carried a note reading, "Order received that you and all members of your families MUST be fingerprinted."

While municipal workers in general agreed with the principle, there was considerable resentment.

BROOKS URGES COURAGE IN U. S. VICTORY DRIVE

Senator and McKeough on Same Program.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rockford, Ill., July 26.—Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] and his Democratic opponent, Rep. Raymond S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough, spoke on the same program near here today in what had been scheduled as the curtain raiser of McKeough's downstate campaign for election to the senate.

But McKeough, finding the setting not right for a strategic address, stuffed his prepared speech into his pocket and made a brief, informal talk. His managers said this was a gesture of sportsmanship because Brooks had appeared on short notice.

Hundreds of the Americans of Swedish descent emerged from the shady spot they had picked out for the Viking picnic on Kishwaukee river acres of Camp Hillcrest in order to hear Sen. Brooks.

All Face a Sacrifice.

"Here in Rockford the factories are running full blast to send munitions for the sons you've already sent," Brooks began. "Before this war is over, there won't be a family in America that hasn't sacrificed.

"Whatever we've got we must lay on the altar of our country with a courageous smile. I had the privilege of serving in the last war. My father, who was 56 years old, served 14 months in France, and both my brothers enlisted in the marines. One is buried in England.

"As a man who has been in the front lines and seen his buddies killed by enemy machine guns, I have always urged strong national defenses. That was not only as a senator, but as a member of the American Legion which has continually worked for adequate preparedness.

"I am working for the tools to win right now. To win we've got to bring the war to the enemies who attacked us, and bomb them and burn them until they are conquered."

Sen. Brooks did not mention his war wounds or his decorations for bravery which are the despair of his political opponents.

Rep. McKeough told how he was born in Chicago, became an orphan at the age of 10, and worked in the meat packing houses.

"In my eight years in congress I have supported every policy recommended by President Roosevelt," he said.

Has "Faith in Roosevelt."

"There is no short cut to this war's end. To those who urge me to join the movement for a 'second front' in Europe I say that I have faith in President Roosevelt and our military and naval leaders to decide. I also have faith in every enlisted man in the army and navy.

"We're willing to sacrifice whatever we've got to win.

"We will win because we must. We must have faith in President Roosevelt and more than ever in God to triumph in our just cause."

He said that he was happy to find that Sen. Brooks had been invited because that demonstrated the democratic and American way of life which we are fighting to preserve.

Later, at nearby Oregon, Sen. Brooks and Judge John Gutknecht of the Chicago Municipal court, who has joined the Democratic campaign forces, addressed the St. Mary's parish picnic.

Here Brooks spoke about tolerance.

"We must once more win the fight of our freedom to worship God as we please," he said. "We fight for the Catholic church, for the Protestant church, and for the Jewish synagogue. Every fraternity, every person must assume his rightful share of the responsibility. The united spirit and courage of free man cannot fail.

"This is a war which we dare not lose."

Judge Gutknecht said that while he finds British toryism and Russian communism distasteful, the masses of those countries are "fighting for us." "Therefore our help goes to these allies while our bullets go against the enemies of them and us.

"Any other talk is treason."

STATE G. O. P. LEADERS MEET TODAY TO STUDY CONVENTION PLANKS

Springfield, Ill., July 26 (AP).—The Republican state platform will be a brief declaration of principles emphasizing full support of the war program, GOP leaders predicted today on the eve of the first meeting of the party's pre-convention platform committee.

The committee, under the chairmanship of State Sen. Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, will meet here tomorrow for the announced purpose of assimilating ideas for the platform to be adopted at the biennial Republican state convention Aug. 20.

Chairman Benson and Rep. Hugh Green of Jacksonville, secretary of the pre-convention committee, both said they thought the platform should be brief.

"We want a clear-cut statement of the party's all-out support of the war program," Green said. "People are more concerned about ships being sunk than they are about reading any lengthy party platform."

He added that the platform probably would, however, review highlights of the first 18 months of Gov. Dwight H. Green's administration, "pointing out such accomplishments as the sales tax rate reduction, adoption of the aid to dependent children program, increased old age assistance, and aid to schools, and 10 per cent increases in workmen's and unemployment compensation."

F. D. R. REPORTED EYEING LEHMAN FOR WAGE POST

Washington, D. C., July 26 [Special].—President Roosevelt is considering naming New York's Gov. Herbert H. Lehman supreme federal wage arbiter, according to a report in authoritative circles today.

Lehman would be entrusted with bringing order out of the conflicting wage views held by government agencies.

Lehman would be established in an office where all information gathered by the bureau of labor statistics would be at his elbow. He might be expected to act as a clearing house for federal agencies interested in a national wage policy.

7 YANK FIGHTER PILOTS JOIN RAF RAID ON FRANCE

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 27 [Monday]—(AP).—British bombers swept over Germany again last night, following up a heavy Saturday night raid on Duisburg. London had two alerts last night and early today, but Nazi planes apparently were driven off both times.

[The Berlin radio reported a British raid on Hamburg and said 18 British planes were shot down.]

LONDON, July 26 (AP).—Seven United States army fighter pilots joined the British royal air force in a wide fighter sweep over northern France today. A special communique disclosing their participation was the first official word that American air force fighter pilots as well as bomber crews are now operating from the British Isles.

The planes hit at military objectives in the area between Gravelines, St. Omer, and Abbeville. One of the American planes did not return.

In addition, the American Eagle squadron, pacing one fighter sweep over the occupied area, successfully bombed and machine gunned a German torpedo boat about a mile off Calais, the British air ministry reported.

Spaatz Issues Communique.

The communique disclosing the participation of the American fighters was the second issued by the commanding general of the United States army air force in the European theater, Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz.

The first, on July 4, announced that in a joint operation with the RAF, six American bomber crews attacked targets that day in German occupied territory. Two American planes failed to return on that occasion.

Whole acres of buildings were wiped out by more than 50 two ton "block destroying" bombs last night in a British raid on Duisburg, huge German railway and shipping center, and this afternoon the RAF destroyed the legend of a new Nazi superplane in a nine to three fighter victory over northern France.

Great fires were left raging in the largest river port in the world, at Duisburg-Ruhrort, at the confluence of the Ruhr and Rhine rivers adjacent to Duisburg proper. Single bombers which attacked Ruhr industries in daylight raids this morning said smoke from the fires was spreading over the Ruhr.

The air ministry acknowledged 14 bombers and 1 fighter were missing from the night's operations [indicating a force of between 280 and 300 bombers took part].

Battle New Nazi Planes.

The Spitfire fighter victory today was the most decisive since Germany's new Focke-Wulf 190 fighter was placed in operation. The nine Nazi planes downed today all were Focke-Wulf 190s. A famous Polish squadron in the RAF got five of the nine; it was understood the Americans failed to bag any.

Fighter sweeps were a virtually continuous operation. Channel residents reported fighters crossing into the occupied territory, at high altitude, thruout today.

The German air force made scattered raids on Britain during the night, losing four planes, two over the North sea and two over occupied territory to pilots waylaying them on their return from England. [The Germans said the English port of Middlesbrough was bombed.] A seaside town on the southwest coast of England was bombed today.

Reds Bomb East Prussia.

BERLIN, July 26 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command communique today said that the RAF's raids last night at Duisburg, Homberg and Moers caused considerable damage "in some instances." The Germans disclosed also new Russian air raids on East Prussia.

Defensive night fighters and anti-aircraft artillery were extremely active, high command reports crediting them with the destruction of 11 RAF bombers in the Duisburg area.

The high command said that the Russian actions against unidentified East Prussian communities last night were no more than "nuisance raids" with little substantial effect.

[Moscow said a large Red air force Saturday night bombed Koenigsberg in German East Prussia. A Nazi war plant there was reported blown up and five large fires set. The Russians said all soviet airmen returned to their base.]

British Like the American Mustang

[Associated Press Photo.]

The American built Mustang, a fighter plane which battle-proved British pilots have approved. They are the only American day fighters now operated by the RAF.

'A Good Job'

WITH AN RAF FIGHTER COMMAND IN BRITAIN, July 26 (AP).—Battle trained RAF pilots have given their approval to the United States built Mustang fighter planes, American equivalent of the famous Hurricanes.

"Americans certainly did us a good job on these Mustangs," a pilot of this army coöperation station declared.

The Mustangs are the only American day fighters now operated by the RAF. They have been assigned to the army coöperation group, and have been used for low level attacks on ground targets in occupied France. They are also good for reconnaissance and can carry bombs under their wings.

The Mustang is the only fighter in the world equipped with the new type airflow wing developed about two years ago.

REVEALS SECRET JAP PREPARATION FOR MALAYA WAR

Says Thailand Aided in Duping British.

[Relman Morin, Associated Press chief of bureau in Tokio from 1937 until November, 1940, traveled thru southeastern Asia on special assignments for a year preceding the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He was in French Indo-China when war broke out. Here he discloses the thoroness of Japanese preparation for war in that theater.]

BY RELMAN MORIN.

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 24 [Delayed] —(AP).—The Japanese had Malaya and Burma in the bag four months before Pearl Harbor. Their intelligence service had made British military dispositions an open book, particularly in Malaya. Their specially trained landing forces, using special equipment, were maneuvering on the coasts of French Indo-China, practicing the methods which later completely paralyzed the allied defense.

Their neatest trick was propaganda by which Japan and Thailand pretended mutual enmity as Japan's transport fleets entered Thailand's gulf of Siam in August and September of last year. Actually, Thailand was a party to Japan's plans to use these forces later in attacking other parts of southeast Asia.

Cites Evidence of Plan.

Traveling thru Singapore, Thailand, Burma, and Indo-China a year ago, I encountered abundant evidence of the whole scheme.

For example, a Malay dignitary close to the Sultan of Johore told me openly that the sultan's subjects could not be depended upon if war came. It has been reported since that the Japanese have decorated the sultan.

At Kuala Lumpur, Midway between Singapore and the Thai border, a Japanese woman innkeeper gave me names, numbers and the dispositions of all British regiments in the vicinity.

Later in Indo-China you could see Japanese landing parties practicing the disembarkation methods which were probably the greatest factor in the loss of Malaya. They used hundreds of flat bottomed barges, capable of making 12 knots, equipped to carry light tanks and deposit them on the beach. Picked landing crews were employed.

Meanwhile Thailand and Japan were uttering mutual threats.

Three Steps of Conquest.

Following were the tactical steps of conquest:

First, the navy, based on Indo-China, acquired quick command of the sea and carriers sent planes swarming over British airbases.

Third, transports simultaneously launched their crack landing parties along the Malayan beaches behind the Australian lines. Traitors in Malaya guided them thru the jungles.

This forced the British continually to retire in order to prevent the severance of their communications. Then the Japanese based in Indo-China rushed across Thailand to forestall a British assault from Burma.

REPORT SIX U. S. OFFICERS KILLED IN INDIA CRASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Capt. Howard Melville Lammers, a former aide to Adm. William S. Sims and once head of the World's Fair amusement control committee in New York, was killed in an air crash in India, a communique issued at New Delhi said today. Five other United States officers were said to have been killed with him. Their names were not given.

The New York News short wave listening post this evening heard the British radio quote the New Delhi communique, which said the deaths occurred when a British transport crashed into a mountain Friday, after having been caught in a high wind.

Capt. Lammers was a liaison officer. The navy department said it had a report on his death.

GERMANS DIG IN AS LULL COMES IN EGYPT'S WAR

BY HARRY CROCKETT.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY AT EL ALAMEIN, July 26 (AP).—After mid-week clashes in which both sides lost heavily, a lull has come in the desert war and the Germans are furiously digging in all along this front 75 miles west of Alexandria, from El Alamein to the Qattara depression.

Action during the last day and a half has been little more than an occasional exchange of artillery fire, day and night patrols and the drone of planes of the British and American air forces overhead as they continue to strike at Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's sea and air bases.

Today's Cairo communique said the heavy bombers of the United States army air force and British bombers swept across the Mediterranean last night and attacked Crete, and that another force struck at Tobruk again.

Hammer Tank Concentrations.

Light bombers continued to plaster axis troop, tank, and vehicle concentrations with explosives and cannon-fire. Supplementary information said fires and explosions were caused when the big raiders bombed airdromes at Candia and Tympakion in Crete. There were also raids on barges northwest of Matruh.

United States bombers shot down an Italian Macchi fighter in their raid over Bengazi three days ago, it was said.

The axis air force has failed to use the advantage of a bright moon to carry out the usual night attacks on British bases and strong points.

Along this strange front most tank activity has been well to the south of long, lean Ruweisat ridge. Of the whole 40 mile front from the sea to the Qattara sink that is the only place where tanks can be used to real advantage.

Shell "Ruined Ridge."

However, there has been some tank activity in the northern sector, which is very rough.

From Miteriya ridge, known as "Ruined ridge," in the central sector, there has been some enemy machine gunning and shelling. The ridge is named from the fact that it is dotted with ancient Arab ruins.

The entire area is naturally good for defense and hard for offense except when the attacker has superiority of heavy guns and infantry. The whole territory is a series of ridges, with sandy depressions in between which are exceedingly difficult to cross.

At the north, for instance, while the Australians hold most of the coastal ridges and the northwest side of the Hill of Jesus, neither side is able to hold the top of the latter. The top of the ridge is exposed from one side to the artillery of the British, and from the other to the fire of the Germans who hold a similar ridge to the south.

British Shelled, Rome Reports.

ROME, July 26 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—The Italian high command reported today that British columns had been effectively shelled in the Egyptian desert by axis artillery.

Three British planes were reported shot down by axis formations which, the communique said, had "vigorously interfered with" RAF activity.

[Berlin reported that the Lucca and Halfar airports on Malta were bombed and that a big merchant ship off Port Said was damaged in an aerial attack.]

NAVY AIRMEN'S FIRST VICTORY OVER JAPS TOLD

Smashed Sea Force in 20 Minutes: Johnston.

New Guinea, and had spread along the northeastern coast of Australian New Guinea, taking one seaport after another.

Early in March American and Australian flying patrols had noticed the growing nucleus of vessels in Lae and Salamaua harbors. All these patrols were being carried out by Consolidated Catalinas and land based long range bombers that followed the sea routes, avoided combat and continually hid in cloud cover, to escape Japanese eyes.

Data Given to Lexington.

When the Lexington and another carrier under Vice Adm. Wilson Brown appeared in New Guinea waters the army's intelligence units passed on their information.

"The admiral decided we could do something about this situation and asked the flying men with him to figure something out," Lieut. Comm. Weldon Hamilton, who commanded the dive bombers from the Lexington in the raid, told me a few weeks after it was over. "And so we got our charts and dope on New Guinea.

"We found a curious picture. If we followed the coast around to Lae and Salamaua from Port Moresby, we would have traveled a good 1,500 miles. But if we could fly almost due north from Port Moresby, and hop right over the mountains, we would have to cover only 100 miles.

"The catch, of course, was the fact that the mountains were as high as 16,000 feet. Furthermore, there were no charts—and I mean absolutely none at all—that accurately showed the mountains of that wild inland country. Remember, most of it has never been trod by a white man. The black tribes there are among the most ferocious fighters found. They fashion stone axes and make knives out of human leg bones, and absolutely are back in one of the primitive ages. They're the kind of savages that pierce their noses with rings and go almost naked."

The Decision: Go Ahead!

Such were the problems. Nevertheless, it was decided to go ahead regardless of the risks.

"I had read many books on Papua," Commander Hamilton continued, "and while we were flying I remember speculating to myself upon the cannibal tribes living there below us and watching for the neat appearing clearings and their thatched village huts that stood out against the heavy dark greens of the jungle.

"Our first 75 miles inland was a twisting course over heavily timbered, steep mountain sides. The peaks rose on all sides of us right into the heavy clouds around them. At first I had been picking spots where I might have made a landing if engine trouble developed. But now there was nothing but jungle to see, not a place for an emergency landing anywhere.

"I took a good look around at our planes — strung out at an interval that was planned to allow each group plenty of skyroom—and I remember thinking how petty the tribal wars in that New Guinea jungle were compared with the one in which we were engaged. I also wondered what those savages who saw us must have thought at seeing such a number of great rumbling birds. I'll never know, of course, but the thought amused me at the time."

Japs Begin to Scramble.

"While we were still 25 miles away from Salamaua harbor we could see the shipping lying at anchorage," Lieut. Comm. Jimmy Thach, who led the Lexington's fighter units that day, recalled in telling of the raid. "The land fell rapidly away beneath us and we came down in a long, fast dive.

"Our motor noise must have warned the Japs because we could see them begin to scramble before we got in. Instead of remaining behind to try to protect the unarmed merchant ships, the Jap war vessels, as they always do, slipped their cables and tried to head out into the open sea. They seem to leave the crews of the transports and auxiliary vessels to shift for themselves whenever an air attack is made."

The fighters and torpedo planes came down first, in accordance with timing worked out in advance. The torpedo planes picked out the largest transports and cruisers for their attentions, and the fighters went roaring around the harbor looking for Japanese defense planes.

"We were such a surprise to them," said Lieut. Noel Gayler, one of the fighter pilots, "that there was only one Jappie airplane in the air. He was a seaplane fighter with a rear gunner, and I must say he was a good little fellow. Lots of guts.

"He went after our torpedo planes that were down almost on the water, fanned out to take in a number of different targets. And he was doing a good job. He slid in and out among them, forcing some to bank away, and firing his front and rear guns in all directions. His harassing was of the best."

I remember my own surprise at Gayler's observations. I failed to note a twinkle in his eye as he spoke in his slow, quiet way. There was a pause, then he resumed:

"But that little Jappie made a mistake. Tut-tut. Too bad. He left the torpedo planes to pull up and challenge four of us [the fighter unit]."

One Jap Less.

Gayler ends his story at that point. But Gayler's friends will tell you that this young man [he came out of the Coral sea battle the navy's leading air ace with eight confirmed victories] eased out of his dive for half a second. His machine guns spat momentarily and, as the navy boys said, "Our Jap pal joined his ancestors."

This ended the opposition, except for a little anti-aircraft fire from a few ships and from a battery of heavy guns set up ashore. And while the torpedo planes began a systematic smashing of the anchored ships the dive bombers went after the fleeing cruisers and destroyers.

"I selected a fine cruiser," Commander Hamilton said. "It looked from 8,000 feet like a giant speedboat racing for the open sea. It was really pretty; alive.

"But I was too enthusiastic. I hadn't allowed for the wind at lower levels. It drifted me in my dive over the target and my bomb hit the water alongside. But the man right behind me saw my error and corrected for it. His heavy bomb plunged thru the cruiser's after deck and the tremendous blast smashed the stern portion to a tangle of débris. This fellow sank within a few minutes."

Lae Also Strafed.

The planes turned Salamaua into a shambles and up the coast, a seven minute flight in a dive-bomber, the squadron from the second carrier—the name is not mentioned for reasons of national security—were performing equally effectively at Lae.

"Those fighter pilots were superb," Commander Hamilton said. "When they found there were no Jap planes in the air they made dummy runs with the torpedo planes and dive bombers to spread the anti-aircraft fire. Then they amused themselves by trying to drop fragmentation bombs among the crews of the anti-aircraft guns aboard the ships and ashore."

"Imagine my astonishment to see the Japs running in all directions to escape our bombs and bullets. The romantic writers who spent years misinforming us by telling of Japanese immunity to fear and of the universal Japanese desire to be killed fighting for their emperor, should have seen the interest those Japs showed in remaining alive."

Only One Plane Lost.

Only one airplane was lost of the total that attacked both harbors. That was at Salamaua where a scout bomber was damaged by the anti-aircraft fire. Its pilot, Ensign Johnson, made a good landing in the water of the harbor with his wheels up during the fight. Presumably he had a good chance of getting ashore safely and now should be a Japanese prisoner of war.

The toll of shipping destroyed when the last airplane was called away included the confirmed sinkings of five transports or cargo vessels, two heavy cruisers and one light cruiser and one destroyer. A minelayer, two destroyers and a gunboat were left burning and probably were lost to the Japanese. A seaplane carrier and a gunboat were severely damaged by bombs. Fighters at Lae shot down a second seaplane fighter, matching the one downed at Salamaua.

The return trip, with all the planes lightened by having dropped their bombs or torpedoes, was made swiftly. The vigil of Commander Bill Ault, chief of all the flying squadrons of the Lexington, who had kept watch from above the mountains was soon over and he then trailed the formations back to the carrier to watch for any pilot who might have engine trouble.

A Safe Return.

The Lexington's crew, and that of the other carrier as well, had made a great ceremony of the airplanes' departures. Because this was the first war raid by the pilots, virtually every one aboard the carriers who could be spared from pressing duties cheered them off and anxiously awaited their return.

"We could hardly believe our good fortune," an executive officer of the Lexington said as we discussed this raid long afterward, "when we began counting the incoming planes. Group after group swept past us with all its planes exactly in formation. You can't know how much that means until you have had your own friends go off on perilous duties and see them come home to the ship safely."

A Mean Disposition

Buddy, Brookfield zoo mandrill, in one of his lighter moods. The beast has an even temper—uniformly mean.

One denizen of the Brookfield zoo has been unchanged by the heat—he's just as mean as ever, according to Edward Bean, zoo director. The rascal is a mandrill—a type of baboon—named Buddy.

In his native haunts of West Africa, the mandrill will attack a leopard and win 9 times out of 10, according to Bean. Buddy hasn't had any leopards to pick on. As a result he is so mean it has been four years since they have dared put one of his two mates in his cage.

Buddy weighs about 70 pounds and is brightly colored.

NORSE CLERGY URGES CONTINUED OPPOSITION TO QUISLING REGIME

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 25 (AP).—A committee of Norwegian church leaders was reported today to have issued a manifesto to members of the clergy urging them to continue their opposition to the German sponsored régime of Vidkun Quisling and to disregard any dismissals issued in his name.

"We have won a definite victory," the manifesto was quoted as saying. "Our front is unbroken."

The statement was said to have been issued following a meeting of all the former bishops of Norway, who resigned in protest against Quisling's régime.

while bending their main efforts in a drive southward into the Caucasus.]

In the fighting about Voronezh, 300 miles north of Rostov, the soviet information bureau reported the recapture of two populated places west of the city, and for the first time in the battle there claimed the capture of several hundred German prisoners along with tanks and guns.

Two squadrons of American built Airacobras were reported to have joined in hammering the German positions.

Tass, official soviet news agency, said the fiercest fighting was going on south of the city in the triangle between the Don and Voronezh rivers. Tass said the Germans had massed quantities of mortars, artillery, and machine guns in a small sector and were defending their positions tenaciously, but said the Russians were advancing with perseverance.

Another Tass dispatch, from the Baltic area, said sailors sank two more German transports today.

"Fight Beyond the Don."

BERLIN, July 26 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—Spearheads of the German army aimed into the Caucasus are fighting beyond the Don river both east and south of Rostov, the high command said today. Nazi planes, the announcement added, ranging eastward penetrated to the Volga and two tankers were set afire and three barges sunk.

Reports indicated that the Russians defended the Don fiercely, but that the Germans managed to push forces in considerable strength across the river. Russian defenses east of the Don were pronounced "neither orderly nor cohesive." German and Rumanian vanguards were reported to have reached the Don in the big bend region.

Farther north, in the central sector of the Russian front, German dispatches with increasing frequency mentioned "bad road conditions" caused by rain. But there too, the Germans said, their advance continues. The air force was concentrating on railway lines far to the Russians' rear.

South of Lake Ilmen, about 150 miles south of Leningrad, dispatches continued, a Russian offensive was being pushed with undiminished vigor. The Germans said 1,000 Russian dead were counted on one short sector.

ALLIED AND JAP PATROLS CLASH IN NEW GUINEA

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 27 [Monday]—(AP).—Allied and Japanese patrols engaged in light skirmishing in the Buna area, a headquarters communique said today, in the first reported land action of the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea. The fighting occurred at Awala, about 25 miles inland from Buna, the seaport near where the Japanese landed last Wednesday.

In another land clash, the communique said that allied commandos recently killed some 60 Japanese in a brush in the Salamaua area.

"Enemy patrols recently attacking Mubo were surprised and repulsed with an estimated loss of 60 killed," the communique said.

Pound Jap Bases.

Allied airmen, meanwhile, were believed to have further crippled the Japanese who recently landed in the Gona-Buna area 150 miles below Salamaua. All day Saturday and Sunday the airmen pounded at Japanese food and ammunition stocks and shore installations.

The communique said "our patrols engaged the enemy in light skirmishing" at Awala. [Presumably this is a point near Salamaua where the reported ground action occurred.]

Besides the attack on the Gona-Buna region, allied air units attacked Kieta on Bougainville Island in the Solomon group, and Buka and Sohana Islands in the Buka passage north of Bougainville. Earlier they raided Lae, on the northeast New Guinea coast, scoring hits on the airdrome.

Darwin Attacked Again.

Darwin on Australia's north coast was attacked again early last [Sunday] night, the second night in a row, emphasizing the threat to Australia. However, only three planes attacked the port city and damage was described as negligible. Townsville, a city of 25,000 on the northeastern Australian coast, was attacked Saturday night in the deepest Japanese penetration yet of Australia.

The communique said that the Gona-Buna targets attacked by allied planes in their steady assaults yesterday included anti-aircraft and machine gun batteries as well as supply dumps. "It is believed the area was badly hit," the communique said.

Two allied planes were lost in resulting dogfights, and one Japanese plane was seen to crash.

City Blacked Out.

TOWNSVILLE, Australia, July 26 (AP).—Four long range Japanese flying boats which bombed Townsville shortly before midnight found the city blacked out and the 25,000 residents under cover.

Searchlights picked up two flying boats. The Japanese maneuvered and sought to evade the beams. During one interval while out of range of the lights they dropped their bombs, which exploded in rapid succession in the harbor.

Claim Armed Services Hail Fund Curb on Alaska Probe

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 26.—The armed services are pleased that the proposed senate investigation of defense operations in Alaska and the Aleutian Islands will be limited by lack of funds, according to the current issue of the semiofficial Army and Navy Journal.

The journal noted that the senate committee on audit and control has allowed only $3,000 instead of the $50,000 requested for the probe. The money was sought by a subcommittee—headed by Sen. A. B. Chandler [D., Ky.]—of the senate military affairs committee. The journal commented:

"So the inquiry will be limited much to the satisfaction of the services which realize the embarrassment that would follow from a probe while they are operating against the enemy."

Lucas Heads Fund Group.

Sen. Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], an administration senator, is chairman of the senate committee on audit and control, which holds power over contingent expenses of the senate and chose to cut to the bone working funds for the Alaskan investigation.

There have been repeated demands in congress that more drastic and intensive action be taken by the armed forces—and under a unified rather than separated command—to drive the Japs out of the Aleutians.

Despite a paucity of information on operations in Aleutian waters, the journal, which serves as a clearing ground for service news and gossip, claimed that the services have definite plans for combating the Japs in that theater.

"It is not possible to disclose the plans of the army and navy in connection with the expulsion of the Japanese from the western tip of the Aleutian Island, but it may be said the services are thoroly cognizant of the importance of such action," the journal said.

"Not only in Washington but in the field, the high command is giving the most careful consideration to the measures already bringing success. Both submarines and planes are continually attacking, and their offensive will be supplemented effectively by Canadian as well as American forces.

"This information should put an end to the agitation in congress, and the concern in the northwest and Alaska, where the fear is being expressed that too little is being done about the north Pacific zone."

ESKIMOS REVIVE THE SNOW IGLOO—TO USE AS A BOMB SHELTER!

KOTZEBUE, Alaska, July 26 (AP).—Up here near the top of the world the war has revived an almost forgotten art—that of building snow igloos. The Eskimos are putting them up for air raid shelters.

Arrow locates Kotzebue.

Usually drab and lifeless Kotzebue reacted quickly to the news of Pearl Harbor. Meeting after meeting was held. A civilian guard was organized. Soon the young bucks were cutting snow blocks and fitting them into spacious, two room arctic bungalows.

AUSSIES DISCUSS PLAN TO LICENSE DRINKERS IN BARS

'Lounge Lizards Aimed At by Proposal.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, July 26.—Federal ministers, in a drive to bring Australia's war effort to 100 per cent efficiency, are considering a proposal to license drinkers.

This is part of a campaign against "lounge lizards," who mop up available supplies in the afternoon before the workers can get to the bars, most of which close at 6 p. m.

The license, which probably would cost a dollar or two, could be canceled for excessive drinking or suspended by a doctor for health reasons, according to reports from Canberra.

Could Revoke Licenses.

Convictions for drunkenness would result in indorsement on the licenses, much the same as many American automobile drivers' licenses are indorsed for violation of motor laws. Repeated indorsements would result in the license being canceled. Licenses would have to be produced upon demand in bars.

This system, said to be favored by a number of officials, is expected to be discussed Aug. 10 at the conference of state premiers, who are waging a drive to cut down consumption by heavy drinkers and see that munitions workers get drinks after work.

Discuss Afternoon Closing.

Another proposal to be submitted provides for closing of bars between 2 and 4 or 5 p. m. There is no intention of extending the closing time beyond the present hour if the bars are shut in the afternoons.

At the premiers' conference the states are to be asked to enforce present liquor laws with the greatest rigidity. Testimony at the trial of Pvt. Edward J. Leonski, an American soldier who was convicted of the strangulation murders of three Australian women and sentenced to be hanged, revealed that many hotels served liquor long after closing hours and brought a demand for more strict enforcement.

Australian papers carry numerous letters from readers demanding reforms. Recently the dry element has asked that beer be rationed.

CHINESE RETAKE VITAL POINTS ON KIANGSI BORDER

CHUNGKING, China, July 26 (AP).—The Chinese high command, reporting widespread attacks on Japanese positions in Kiangsi province, said today that Chinese soldiers had broken into Yingtan and recaptured a number of points in the Chekiang-Kiangsi border region.

Yingtan, 75 miles southeast of Japanese occupied Nanchang, was the western terminus of the stretch of the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, operated by the Chinese before the Japanese began their drive. The high command said the Chinese had recaptured Tengkiashan, Yushan, and other communities.

The communique said the Chinese forces attacked Yingtan Friday and by noon broke into the town, where many Japanese soldiers were killed.

Churchill to Review War Situation Before Commons

LONDON, July 26 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill will give a lengthy review of the war situation in all areas to the house of commons before it adjourns for the summer recess, British diplomatic sources reported tonight. The prime minister's report will be followed by a war debate, it was said.

GANDHI INFORMS JAPS THEY'RE NOT WANTED IN INDIA

Warns Them Not to Expect a Welcome.

BOMBAY, July 26 (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi in his newspaper "Hari Jan" warned the Japanese today against expecting a welcome if they invade India.

The Indian Nationalist leader said he is agitating for Indian independence now not to embarrass the united nations, but because he believes the allied powers will be unable to beat the axis unless India is free.

Has Faith in Fasting.

Under the caption, "To Every Japanese," Gandhi wrote, "I ask you to make no mistake about the fact you will be sadly disillusioned if you believe you will receive a willing welcome from India."

He added Japanese are misinformed if they place any other interpretation on the flareup of sentiment for independence.

Antidote for Violence.

"If the struggle which we are seeking to avoid with all our might has to come, and if it is to remain nonviolent as it must in order to succeed, fasting will likely play an important part in it," he wrote.

"It has its place in the tussle with authority and with our own people and in the event, for instance, of wanton acts of violence and obstinate riots."

Cripps Defies Gandhi.

LONDON, July 27 [Monday]—(AP).—Sir Stafford Cripps, whose independence mission to India failed last spring, today criticized Mohandas K. Gandhi's stand for immediate withdrawal of the British rule from India, saying the actions of a "visionary" must not be allowed to thwart the united nations' drive for victory in the east.

With threatened mass civil disobedience measures sponsored by Gandhi expected to receive the approval of the All-India Congress party Aug. 7, Sir Stafford told Americans that "your sons as well as ours are helping to defend India and wage war against the Japanese. Your policy as well as ours is to defend India."

"The issue is too grave and too great for the whole world," Sir Stafford said in a broadcast to the United States.

Jeopardizes Freedom.

"American, Chinese, Indian, and British soldiers must not be sacrificed in the gallant struggle for the liberty of the world by a political party maneuvering in India or any other country. It is the interest of India that is at stake as well as that of China, Britain, and the United States."

Saying he regretted the stand taken by Gandhi, Cripps asserted that Gandhi, "unprepared to wait [for freedom after the war] would rather jeopardize the freedom and the whole cause of the united nations."

TOKIO SHOWS U. S. 'WRECKED PLANE,' PAINT STILL WET!

Reporter Tells How Trick Backfired.

[Max Hill had been chief of the Associated Press bureau in Tokio about one year when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. Then he was interned for seven months with other United States newsmen and has reached Lourenco Marques, Portuguese East Africa, on the ship exchanging American and Japanese nationals. Following is the first story received from Hill since Pearl Harbor.]

BY MAX HILL.

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 26 (AP).—It was a good story at the time, but it's funnier than ever now—how the Japanese sought to save face after the Doolittle raid on Tokio but didn't quite succeed, all because some doubting Japanese know wet paint when they see it.

Somehow you can enjoy a joke more when you breathe the air of freedom.

Americans interned at Tokio carry vivid memories of that April 18 raid by United States planes, and nothing serves better to keep the memories alive than this history which circulated among us internes.

The Japanese press first said nine of the planes were shot down. Later this figure was more conveniently modified to one, and wreckage to give weight to this announcement was displayed in the Japanese capital.

Paint Was Still Wet.

That was all wery well, but this propaganda stunt backfired, the story goes, when some curious spectators discovered that the red, white and blue paint on the twisted wing covering was still wet.

Actually, I understand now, there were as many as 16 planes in the raid, and while there is no available reliable estimate of the casualties, it is known that heavy damage was done in the industrial districts between Tokio and Yokohama, where large areas of factories and homes were burned over.

While the Tokio raid gave Japanese of the metropolitan region a bad case of nerves, the havoc wrought by American submarines was causing just as much apprehension.

The most telling blow by American submarines was the sinking of the Taio Maru, bound for the East Indies with 600 economic experts.

It was rumored in Tokio that American submarines were operating virtually in Yokohama harbor.

In Solitary Confinement.

I was arrested the morning of Dec. 8 [Dec. 7 at Pearl Harbor] and thrown into solitary confinement in Tokio's Sugamo prison. I remained in solitary until Jan. 6 except for a brief questioning on Christmas eve.

To keep warm in the cell, which was so cold that ice formed on the water basin, I both wore and walked on a tatame [Japanese mat]. The guard had confiscated my shoes the first day. Breakfast, lunch, and dinner consisted of the same food—a small bowl of mixed barley and rice and a small cup of soup made of seaweed or turnip tops boiled in water. I lost weight rapidly, altho later I was permitted to supplement my rations with food purchased outside the prison.

I was called into the questioning room in early January. I was forced to admit that stories I had sent, on information obtained from official Japanese spokesmen, might have been damaging to Japanese diplomacy. The court finally gave me a suspended sentence of 18 months. I was released June 2 and taken to an internment camp to await the departure of the liner Asama Maru.

Fire in Cuba Destroys 30,000 Gals. of Naphtha

SANTA CLARA, Cuba, July 26 (AP).—About 30,000 gallons of naphtha stored on the outskirts of this city were destroyed by fire last night. A spark from pumping machinery was believed responsible.

PASTOR CLOSES UP HIS CHURCH TO FACE ESPIONAGE TRIAL

Rev. K. E. Molzahn.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 26 (AP).—The Rev. Kurt E. Molzahn closed his Zion Lutheran church for "summer vacation" today and packed a bag for his journey to Hartford, Conn., where he goes on trial Tuesday on charges of espionage.

Mr. Molzahn was indicted on the testimony of federal agents who accused him of using his parsonage as a postoffice for an axis spy ring. He protested his innocence and his parishioners, some of whom announced they would appear as character witnesses for him, raised $25,000 cash bail.

Four others indicted with the clergyman have pleaded guilty. They are Gerhardt Wilhelm Kunze, former head of the German-American bund; Count Anastase Vonsiatsky, Dr. Otto Willumeit, of Chicago, and Dr. Wolfgang Ebell, El Paso, Tex.

NEW ALIEN RAIDS IN DETROIT AREA NET CONTRABAND

Search Sixty Homes in Outlying Towns.

Detroit, Mich., July 26 [Special].—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and local and state police, who yesterday raided 120 homes of enemy aliens in Detroit, today extended their operations into suburbs and nearby cities, entering at least 60 homes with search warrants and seizing contraband.

Several homes near the Ford Motor company River Rouge plant were visited. Nine raids also were made in Pontiac, five in Dearborn, and four in Ann Arbor and East Detroit, officers said.

Busy in Many Communities.

Other communities near Detroit visited today were South Rockwood, Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe Woods, Highland Park, Mount Clemons, Van Dyke, Wyandotte, Birmingham, Utica, Hazel Park, Trenton, Novi, Lincoln Park, Ypsilanti, South Lyon, Clarkston, Roseville, and Royal Oak.

John S. Bugas, chief of the Detroit FBI office, said no arrests were made today, but evidence gathered will be turned over to United States Attorney John C. Lehr for study and possible prosecution.

Articles seized brought the two day total of confiscated contraband to 181 cameras, 106 shortwave receiving sets, 73 guns of various types, 2,835 rounds of ammunition, 4 swords, and a large quantity of knives and cleavers. This is in addition to articles seized yesterday by a separate FBI raiding party in the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor area.

Most Homes German.

Bugas said 55 per cent of the homes entered today were those of German aliens. The rest were those of Italians. Questioning of the one alien arrested during yesterday's raids continued today, according to Bugas.

He is a war worker about 40 years old and was taken into custody when blueprints and photographs of war plants were found in his possession. Correspondence seized in his home is being studied.

Quiz 34 in Miami Area.

Miami, Fla., July 26 (AP).—Federal agents today took 34 German, Italian, and Japanese aliens into custody in raids in the greater Miami area. All except two Italians and three Germans were released after questioning. The five were confined in alien detention quarters for further questioning. R. G. Danner, a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, led the raids. He did not divulge what had been learned thru searching the aliens' homes or thru the questioning.

"Most of the raids were in strategic areas closely related to national defense," he said.

FALL ON STAIRS FATAL.

Thomas Abbs, 49 years old, a railroad fireman, was fatally injured early yesterday when he fell down stairs in his home at 1548 East 93d street.

British Girls Massacred, Says Correspondent.

[The following dispatch is by the former Tokio correspondent of the New York Times, who has arrived in Portuguese East Africa after having been released from detention in Japan.]

BY OTTO D. TOLISCHUS.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 23 [Delayed].—Enough information on the systematic terror and torture with which the Japanese military and police are trying to exterminate the "white barbarians" in the far east has leaked out in Japan to make some Japanese who are sensitive to world opinion frankly ashamed.

This, together with the growing loss of Japanese lives, increasing shortages of food and other necessaries, and the effects of the American air raid, is producing soberer second thought about the war than prevailed during the period of first Japanese victories.

Accounts of the systematic atrocities with which the Japanese are trying to establish their "co-prosperity sphere" reached the outside world with the arrival here Wednesday of 1,560 evacuees from the far east, most of them Americans.

Imprisoned and Tortured.

Tho the record was ameliorated by courageous deeds and kindnesses extended to captives by individual Japanese, especially women, the Japanese military and police followed traditions reaching back to primitive ages. These practices included imprisonment and torture of American and British newspaper correspondents, businessmen and missionaries, the massacre of British and American wounded at Hongkong and Wake Island, the massacre of British miners in Thailand, and the rape and slaughter of British women and girls, including war nurses.

Priests Witness Massacre.

Maryknoll missionary priests who had been stationed at the rest house at Stanley, near Hongkong, were tied up together with several British officers and several score Canadian troopers and taken to what became known as "Death Gully." Officers and troopers were taken around a corner and the priests could hear their shrieks as they were being bayonetted.

One officer, trying to escape, was driven back with a bayonet within sight of the priests. But after 20 officers and troopers had been bayonetted news of the surrender of the city arrived and the execution was stayed.

A number of wounded soldiers in the rest house and all the wounded in the emergency field hospital were bayonetted in their beds. Dr. Black, head physician of the hospital, was shot.

Nurses Raped and Slain.

Three British volunteer nurses were raped, bayonetted and burned. Other white women and Chinese and Eurasian women were raped and a number were killed.

A British general reported he had seen the bodies of a number of beheaded Canadian troopers.

The Maryknoll priests were thrown into a garage and left there, still tied, for three days and nights without food or water, while Japanese soldiers cursed them and threatened them with bayonets. Later they were interned.

All embassy and consular staffs were confined to their compounds and held incommunicado while police camped in residences, entering private apartments at any time of day or night.

The Brazilian staff, including the ambassador, was locked in the embassy building and not permitted to take even a walk, while police cooked putrid fish in the ambassador's parlor.

Mistreat U. S. Consul.

Outside Tokio officials fared worse. Addison E. Southard, American consul general in Hongkong, was dragged from his bed by a Japanese soldier who pushed a revolver against his chest and demanded his wrist watch.

"I thought my last moment had come," Mr. Southard said, "but the soldier failed to pull the trigger."

In Bangkok, Thailand, Japanese forces occupied the American legation and hauled down the American flag before Thailand entered the war. The German and Italian legations made "friendly representations" and the Japanese evacuated the building.

Americans Are Paraded.

In technically neutral French Indo-China, American and British consular staffs were arrested and interned. O. E. Chubb, American consul at Hanoi, was held in solitary confinement for a month and finally interned in a private residence in Hanoi.

The fate of officials was enviable compared to that of civilians. Virtually all men and many women of all enemy nations were interned. Scores were thrown into prisons, where many Britons still remain. Many were tortured and sentenced to long prison terms.

In Tokio and Yokohama seven American newspaper men and one Canadian newspaper woman were held in solitary confinement for six months. Their offense consisted of sending news to their newspapers.

Three American newspaper men, Mr. Wills, publisher of the Japan Newsweek and representative of the Columbia Broadcasting system, Jasper N. Bellinger, an employé of the Japan Times Advertiser, and myself, and Phyllis Argall, correspondent of the News-Chronicle of London, were subjected to physical torture.

Girl Reporter Slapped.

Miss Argall was tied up, handcuffed, and repeatedly slapped until her face was cut.

I was accused of espionage and secret intelligence work. To force a confession the police threatened me with firing squads. For four days I was forced to squat for hours while four policemen slapped my face and kicked me until I was a physical wreck.

When I failed to break down all the charges were dropped.

During their imprisonment the correspondents were kept in solitary confinement in tiny, unheated cells and compelled to subsist on Japanese food. Unable to eat the food, I lived for the first month on raw apples and other fruit and one-third of a pint of milk daily. Later western food was supplied at five yen daily which, however, was served ice cold.

Missionaries Are Beaten.

The Rev. Samuel Heaslett, former British primate of the Catholic church in Japan, was imprisoned for four months. Then he was dismissed without any charges having been made.

Three American missionaries in Corea, Edwin Wade Koons, Ralph Oliver Reiner, and Edward Hughes Miller, were thrown into a vermin infested prison in which 22 persons were cooped in a cell so small that one-third had to stand to permit the rest to lie down and sleep. They were beaten and subjected to the "water cure."

American and British prisoners at Harbin, Manchukuo, received "electric treatments" that amounted to electrocutions. Among them were Ely A. Rosenblum, American engineer; Bruce Finley Hund, and Dr. and Mrs. Roy M. Byram, American missionaries. They were confined in a prison without heat at 20 below zero.

Ed Stagg, manager of the chartered Bank of Yokohama, committed suicide and John Watson, manager of British real estate interests in Harbin, died in prison as the result of exposure. J. A. Hewitt, a missionary, died in an insane asylum.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO BATAAN!

INDIAN TACTICS.

After the air borne invasion of Crete, the Germans used infiltration tactics to make good the capture of the island, and these same tactics were employed by the Japanese in the easy conquests of Malaya and Burma. Infiltration was a tough problem for the American heroes of Bataan and it undoubtedly played a part in finally breaking the defense.

The American regular army, at the beginning of each new war, has a tendency to think of the tactics of the last preceding war as those still governing. As Gen. Pershing said of the World war, "In each succeeding war there is a tendency to proclaim as something new the principles under which it is conducted. Not only those who have never studied or experienced the realities of war, but also professional soldiers frequently fall into the error."

In the light of this attitude, our regular army may not have appreciated even now that infiltration tactics are as old as the history of warfare in this country. Every one who has read of the French and Indian war will recall the description of Indians "flitting like shadows" from tree to tree. Stark at Bennington and Arnold against Burgoyne used these tactics in the Revolution. The colonial rifleman was peculiarly adapted to the kind of war at which the Jap jungle fighters have proved past masters. The art of taking cover and of concealment was second nature to the colonial rifleman. He did not fight on fixed lines, but was in among his enemy.

We had some finished exponents of infiltration in the World war. There was Sergt. York, the mountaineer from east Tennessee, who stood off and captured 132 Germans after his patrol was literally surrounded and outnumbered 10 to 1, and there was Lieut. Samuel Woodfill, who attacked single handed a series of German machine gun nests near Cunel and dispatched the crews of each in turn until he was finally reduced to the necessity of assaulting the last detachment with a pick.

In this country there are many mountaineers, woodsmen, and plainsmen who know this kind of combat as well as Sergt. York and Lieut. Woodfill. In the World war the exploits of these two heroes seemed exceptional only because there was a tendency to disregard the specialized knowledge that the individual soldier had acquired in civilian life. All men were considered equally capable on all kinds of terrain. City men who would have made excellent street fighters were lost in the Argonne forest, while woodsmen's talents were not utilized to the full in other sectors. York and Woodfill were thrust by circumstance into situations where they could give instinctive play to their talents. If they had been limited by orders, they might not have made such glorious records.

The command of the new army must think, not of soldiers in bulk, but of soldiers as specialists. The development of the special qualifications for different combat tasks must be considered as important as the assignment of qualified technicians to their proper jobs in the mechanical departments. Troops must be prepared for the separate demands that will be placed upon them in different theaters of war and under the distinctly different conditions that pertain to each.

THE THREE STOOGES.

The Citizens' association, while calling for the discharge of the three members of the city civil service commission, sagely remarks that the removal of the three commissioners cannot alone furnish an answer to what it terms Chicago's administrative problem No. 1. Nothing but a change of policy by the mayor and the Democratic party organization can do that, the association declares.

This is what we have been saying for some time. The three members of the civil service commission ought to be kicked out of office, of course; not because it will do any good, but because they are such an offensive spectacle. Chairman Geary, chieftain of the 47 Hungry Gearys, is a despicable spoilsman; Commissioner Green is a legal clown and a political renegade; and Commissioner Ronan, in so far as his knowledge of the civil service goes, is an amiable chump who might as well be sitting around a fire station as around the commission's office.

But firing the three commissioners won't end such scandals as the acquittal of Capt. McCormick and his three blind mice of the morals squad. It would merely make necessary the appointment of three more stooges who would flout the law again whenever public opinion caused charges to be preferred against police for failure to suppress gambling.

Organized, commercialized, gangster controled gambling in Chicago is inextricably tangled with the Democratic political machine in the city. The gambling franchises are an article of commerce dealt in by the Democratic ward committeeman. For such a system to flourish it is obvious that the police force must keep its hands off the politically licensed operators; that when the police get into trouble for not enforcing the law some agency must be available to whitewash them. That is the function of the civil service commission. Its members are only stooges.

Obviously, an honest and conscientious citizen wouldn't have an appointment to the commission under these circumstances, so firing the commissioners, while it may relieve public disgust, isn't going to have any permanent effect on either the gambling situation or political morals in Chicago. The only way to clean that up is for the people of Chicago to stop voting Democratic in local elections.

THE WATCH DOG.

The duty of protecting the federal government against fraud falls on the executive department of the government, acting thru the department of justice and the attorney general. Recently, however, the most effective work in this field has been done by the committees of congress. They uncovered the unconscionable commissions and contingent fees paid Washington contract brokers, as well as the abuses of cost-plus construction contracts.

Two reasons, neither creditable, may be advanced for the failure of the attorney general and his subordinates to do their duty. One is that they have been too busy running the errands of New Deal doctrinaires, and harassing political opponents of the administration, to look for those who are defrauding the public. The other is that they have been deterred from uncovering frauds by fear that investigation will disclose complicity within the administration.

JUSTICE STONE DECLINES.

Following Chief Justice Stone's statement that he would not make an investigation of the rubber situation for the President, reports are circulated that Justice Byrnes will be asked to do the job. The justices are not technical experts. It must be presumed that their services are sought, not for their knowledge, but because of their integrity and that attached to their office.

Whatever the chief justice's reasons may have been for refusal to undertake a rubber investigation, his decision was a sound one. The rubber situation is not one for investigation by a judicial officer. It is one requiring action by an executive official.

What is needed in the rubber crisis is the appointment of an administrator to direct conservation and procurement and, particularly, to start the manufacture of synthetic rubber, either under the War Production board or as a separate agency. American industry, as Mr. Ford said the other day with regard to thiokol, is fully capable of making the synthetics. All it requires is action by the administration to cut the red tape.

All that could possibly come from a public investigation of rubber, no matter how distinguished the investigator, would be a political alibi for possible administrative mistakes in the future. If certain processes are recommended and adopted, but turn sour, the public standing of the investigators who recommended them might possibly save those who adopted them from public condemnation. But this would be a cowardly procedure. The nation is not interested in face saving. It is interested in getting rubber, and it will hold the executive department of the government responsible. That responsibility cannot be shifted by any investigation.

A GRIEVOUS ERROR.

Secretary of War Stimson has reported 28,585 cases of jaundice in the army. Sixty-two of them have proved fatal. The condition is attributed to inoculations against yellow fever. Mr. Stimson has explained that the vaccine which seems to have been responsible for the trouble has now been modified. The surgeon general of the army, Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, is said to be confident that there will be no further ill-effects.

As recently as June 18, the Journal of the American Medical Association contained the following note:

"In recent weeks there have been numerous admissions to [army] hospitals on account of jaundice which has the characteristics, the War department said, of catarrhal jaundice [epidemic hepatitis], but the total number of cases in the entire army has not been enough to appreciably increase the admission rate for all diseases. The War department points out that this is definitely not yellow fever and it is not dangerous to the general public."

It is difficult to believe that the development of more than 28,000 cases of jaundice did not "appreciably increase the admission rate for all diseases" even if the great majority of the victims were not hospitalized. What is even more curious is the War department's intimation that "this is definitely not yellow fever." The statement may be accurate, strictly speaking, but it is certainly misleading, for it invites the false conclusion that the condition is wholly unrelated to yellow fever in any fashion.

The modification of the vaccine may be counted upon to prevent further trouble but the country is entitled to a much fuller explanation of the matter than it has received. How did it happen that wholesale inoculations were undertaken with a vaccine which quite obviously had not been thoroly tested in advance? Somebody was guilty of a grievous error of judgment. In the war thus far, some 1,400 American soldiers have been wounded. Twenty times as many have fallen victim to yellow fever inoculations. The number is so large that an inquiry is plainly indicated.

It should be added in justice to medical science and to the army's medical service that this is the first unfortunate experience of the sort that has been encountered. The preventive treatments against typhoid, paratyphoid, smallpox and other communicable diseases have been productive of excellent results in the last war and in this one. Diseases which formerly ravaged armies have all but disappeared from the military hospitals. It is just because the contrast is so striking that an investigation is needed.

Editorials of the Day

THEY WANT A "SECOND FRONT."

[Milwaukee Journal.]

The CIO National Maritime union sends a delegation to Washington urging the creation of a "second front" in Europe. They think "now" is the time.

We do not quarrel with this. Many people believe that this is the time for the united nations to strike, and all Americans want the "second front" to be a reality as soon as possible.

But while these CIO delegates are in Washington, other CIO men are striking in a war plant in Chicago. They are not willing to leave to management the question whether a worker who broke a crankcase on a motor block did it deliberately. Strikes are springing up in other plants, some involving the CIO, some the AFL.

What do these CIO petitioners think—that other Americans should die on a "second front" while they have the right to undercut the line behind the "second front"? Is it the privilege of some to die on the battle line and of others to skirt the borders of treason behind the battle line?

INTELLIGENCE.

[Providence, R. I., Evening Bulletin.]

When an army sergeant is struck speechless by embarrassment, that's news and no military secret. But something more profound than being "suffocated with confusion," as Jimmy Durante would say, enters into the sad case of the Camp Blanding sergeant who told his company he wanted only men he could out-fight and whose names he could pronounce.

Up stepped Private Peter Muleucis of New Jersey, former professional football player and heavyweight boxer with a string of 23 successive knockouts. The first sergeant promptly retired to a position he should have prepared before his ultimatum collapsed because of a name hard to handle and a soldier even harder.

He knows now what some civilians still don't seem to see: The American army asks not what's in a name but what's in a man!

THINGS THEY ASK US.

What are you going to do on your vacation?

Well, for one thing, we're going to stop reading the newspapers. That is part of a newspaper man's job which is never figured into the estimates of work-hours, but it is a great time-eater.

* * *

Will you try to catch up with history by reading the files when you return?

No; we are quite capable of absorbing current history thru the pores of our skin while passing a newsstand or standing on a street corner to watch the crowds pass by.

* * *

Did you ever miss anything important by not reading the newspapers on your vacation?

No; if it is big stuff we will hear people talking about it. One summer afternoon we were on an Indian reservation in the Back of Beyond and overheard a few remarks on the porch of the agency which gave us the story of the Eastland disaster. It was not stale news, either; it had happened that morning.

* * *

The last licks are put in three hours before the first edition goes to press. Then we immediately begin to prepare for another column.

* * *

What was the most embarrassing moment in your career as a columnist?

When a lonesome soldier boy stopped us on the street to ask what time the night baseball game began. We didn't know! We have since learned that the right answer is, 'When it begins to get dark."

CROSS IN THE SAND.

You longed to learn the world, my lad,
With all its seas and lands,
And hold its charms unfurled, my lad,
In both your eager hands—

To chase the darting Star of Change
Unstayed by circumstance,
And with red-blooded rovers range
The kingdoms of romance.

And so you did, right gallantly,
My lad, my loved, my lost!
You saw what most you craved to see
And gladly paid its cost.

You rode the wave and strode the waste;
You played with storm and star;
Nor scouted in your headiest haste
One peril near or far.

But O, my lad, that you should lie
So silent here alone,
Where only stares an empty sky
On empty sands outstrown,

And only a name in the sunset's flame
Is the fate your fancy willed! . . .
Too brief by half was the way you came,
But your wish—how well fulfilled!

An Open Letter to Dook Bakrak from Snowshoe Al.

Dear Dook: So, you poor, double-jointed, cloven-hooved piece of mousetrap bait, you have written a book! I alway- knew there was something queer about you, but I didn't dream it would ever manifest [good, huh?] itself in such a vehement [good, huh?] manner! Evidently yo' mammy done didn't tol' you! Accept my sincere sympathy, you misled varmint! And, as the author of two books [I was twice as dumb as you], I am done gonna tol' you right now!

First, you can kick such things as caviar, breast of guinea hen, etc., out of your garden of memories and get ready to gnaw on neckbones and canned hash for the rest of your life which, fortunately for you, shouldn't be much longer, as I understand you never did entirely recover from that shrapnel wound at Bunker Hill. Also, as a new member of a highly respected and dignified profession, you will have to start wearing shoes. I know this is gonna be tough on you, Dookie, but don't forget you brought it upon yourself.

Next, get yourself a big, flowing bow tie. This will prove to the public that you have written something, altho they will probably suspect it was a rubber check. Lastly, try to assign an intelligent look. Personally, I think an intelligent look would be as lost on the front of your head as it would be on the mug of that Mussy Mess of Mediterranean Miscellany, Mussolini, but give it a try. It might prove painful for a while, but there will always be aspirin tablets to fall back on.

And, believe me, no matter how healthy you were before your book was published, you will soon acquire that tell-tale stamp of authorship, the Anemic Look. In your case this shouldn't take long.

He swims around and gobbles fish,
A simpler life one could not wish;
And yet in mating time each year
The fur seal has a wild career!
He fights and woos in ardent mood
And doesn't even stop for food
For three long months, or thereabout,
Until completely tuckered out.
So if you've lost your appetite
Don't trouble doctors with your plight
Until you first ask Doris Blake

A Common Error of Tourist Guides.

The assertion that the Coliseum is a replica of old Libby prison is bobbing up again in print. This is a good time to squelch that young reporter's error.

Libby prison was a red brick structure three or four stories high which looked like a warehouse. The gray stone wall of the Coliseum's Wabash avenue frontage never was any part of the old prison, but was erected as an inclosure for the grounds. If my childhood impressions don't play me false the wall was surmounted by castiron figures of Union soldiers.

REMOVAL OF THE SPLEEN IN GAUCHER'S DISEASE.

WHILE Gaucher's disease is not encountered frequently, it appears often enough to warrant attention. Originally described in France by Ernest Gaucher in 1882, it was recognized in parts of Europe and in the United States.

The ailment is first observed in childhood because of the characteristic anemia and, later, marked enlargement of the spleen. As a rule, it begins slowly and pursues a chronic course. Minute hemorrhages may be noted beneath mucous surfaces or in the skin. Loss of weight, sometimes swelling of the abdomen, and waning strength oblige the parents to bring these youngsters to the physician.

What to do? Since 1895, removal of the spleen has been considered our best procedure. Early operation, before the victim becomes grossly debilitated, offers an excellent chance of success. Altho the organ is rarely adherent there are several difficulties involved. The tendency to bleeding is greatly increased. This has led, in many instances, to careful preparation of the little sufferer, with numerous blood transfusions, before surgery is attempted.

As we would expect, other remedies have been tried, such as the injection of liver extract and X-ray treatments. Neither has been helpful. In fact, anemia may become more severe subsequent to radiation.

In a case reported by Logan, seven years after operation, the patient relates that she feels fine and that in nowise is she different from other young women of her age. The diagnosis in her case was somewhat delayed because she lived in Louisiana, in a malaria infested region, and was thought to have the typical malaria or "caked" spleen. She had attempted to reduce the size of her abdomen by dieting, which weakened her considerably. Nevertheless, following a building up program she withstood surgery satisfactorily. An organ weighing nine pounds was taken out. It should not have exceeded six ounces.

In the case of a 10 year old boy, which came to my attention some months ago, this same type of management brought prompt recovery. The lad now seems to be better than he has been at any time since birth. He is gaining in weight. His color and complexion have improved and no longer does he exhibit frequent nosebleeds.

What is this organ—the spleen? Like the appendix and the tonsils, it seems to be unnecessary. No doubt all these structures are useful if they are normal, but when they become sources of trouble, the body seems to be glad to get rid of them.

The cause of the malady remains unknown. Some authorities consider it congenital. Apparently it is a disturbance of the blood, with the appearance of what are known as "Gaucher's cells" in the bone marrow. At any rate, something has gone wrong with metabolism and the structure becomes overfilled with a mass of chemical substances, none of which belongs there in appreciable amounts.

We may look upon the disorder as slowly progressive, with an unhappy sequel—at least by early adult life—unless the enlarging ductless gland [the spleen] can be extirpated.

LIME IN THE ARTERIES.

S. G. writes: Do you know of anything that will clear my arteries of lime and other minerals which have settled within them?

REPLY.

The condition is known as arteriosclerosis [hardening of the arteries]. The deposits which now exist cannot be removed but we can prevent further damage. Employ a balanced diet, obtain plenty of rest, maintain good elimination, and then proceed to forget about your blood vessels.

APPENDIX GHOST.

C. E. W. writes: In February I had an appendectomy. Lately a soreness developed around the scar and I feel a twinge of pain when I try to lie flat on my back. I am worried.

REPLY.

No need for concern. A small adhesion is probably responsible. Chances are that the symptom will disappear within a few months.

ONE OF OUR MOST NEEDED HARVESTS

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, The Tribune.

FROM ADM. DOWNES.

Great Lakes, Ill., July 13.—It is a great pleasure to extend to you my thanks and appreciation for your willing coöperation in making Chicago's Navy Month recruiting drive an outstanding success. The intelligent awareness which the whole staff of The Chicago Tribune have shown in grasping the problems of our greatly expanded navy is an excellent indication of the determination of Chicago's people to win this war.

Recruiting is not my responsibility as commandant of a naval district, but I deeply realize its paramount importance and I wholeheartedly appreciate your successful efforts to stimulate it. It is to you and the other newspapers and organizations who coöperated that the success of the drive is due. I want you to know that the navy is grateful.

John Downes,
Rear Admiral, U. S. N.

TAXICABS AND TIRES.

Chicago, July 22.—At long last us Chicago cab drivers are making somewhere near a living wage, but now what do we hear? "Cut mileage—or else," the tire administrator commands.

We, as an organized body, are doing our utmost to do just that, and beyond any doubt we are being successful. Of course, our mileage has increased, due to the increase in business. What else can be expected? Our live mileage has risen to a point heretofore untouched.

We are not using any new tires, because we can't get them. We only get recaps and due to this fact we suffer loss of time thru getting flat tires more frequently. If the rationing administrator, Mr. Mulcahy, is thinking of giving us less recapped tires than we now receive, it will result in the laying off of some drivers, perhaps as many as 30 or 40 per cent of us. This will not only be felt badly by us, but also by the Chicago public. As the government has recognized our business as essential, I can see no reason why we should suffer any further pressure of rationing.

Robert Williams.

ASSISTANCE TO A GOVERNMENT BUREAU.

Chicago, July 16.—It has been brought to my attention several times lately that inquiries for listing apartments and rooms for decentralized government employés, referred to your paper, have in turn been directed to this office. This splendid coöperation has been most sincerely appreciated. In fact, the entire coöperation of The Tribune in the matter of publicity and interest in this move of decentralizing government groups has aided materially in making available suitable living quarters for our new Chicago residents.

Lower Baker,
Branch Manager
Decentralization Service.

OBJETS d'ART OR JUNK?

Chicago, July 23.—I noticed on Michigan avenue several antique stores with the windows just full of brass, bronze, and iron. This junk has been in those windows ever since I have been in Chicago, which is 25 years. Also, up and down Cottage Grove avenue from 47th to 39th there are more of these shops. Why doesn't the government take that old junk as they claim they need it so badly? It is an eyesore on the boulevard.

Mrs. Kelly.

NOISY TAVERNS.

Chicago, July 23.—I sympathize with the person who wrote the letter entitled "Tavern Next Door". I have lived next door to a tavern for the last 25 years and it gets noisier every year. This noise keeps up till early in the morning. The juke box can be heard all over the neighborhood. I went to the police station to make a complaint but they didn't give me much satisfaction. They told me that the tavern owner can make as much noise as he wants because he is paying a license. I think this seems unfair because I work in a defense plant and must get my sleep to do efficient work for the defense of the country.

Sympathizer.

Cicero, Ill., July 23.—I sympathize with "Weak Citizen," who writes in the July 22 paper. I live next to the worst tavern in Cicero and because my children make a noise playing during the daytime, the owner of the tavern is coercing my landlady into making us move. He brags that he is going to run every family with children out of the neighborhood. Which is more important, drunks or children?

Disgusted.

DING CONSERVATION PROGRAM.

Chicago, July 23.—I have perfected a plan by which a daily saving of several million "dings" can be made. A ding, as you know, is made by the conductor on a street car by yanking on the rope that swings in front of his face. As the system stands today, it is necessary for the conductor to give two dings to proceed and only one ding to stop. The necessity for signaling the motorman to stop is rarely presented, as it is his custom to stop at all intersections, alleys, water fountains, and news stands anyway. By reversing the signals and using "ding" to go and "ding, ding" to stop, they would save wear and tear on the clothes-line they use, and speed up service at the same time. Besides, think of the "dings" they would save.

Henry J. Spetter.

RECEIVES SMOKES FOR YANKS.

Seattle, Wash., June 30.—A case of cigarets was received at this post with the name of your paper stamped on the case. I distributed these cigarets to men in the hospital, men who came to the recreation tent, and a few to men who had not been paid. I do not know on what basis distribution of these cigarets was made, but we certainly appreciate them and thank whoever sent them to us.

Jesse H. Crossett,
Chaplain.

DEFENSE WORK DURING VACATIONS.

Evanston, Ill., July 22.—I am a married man with two children working in an office not connected with defense work. Very shortly I will get a two week vacation and I am willing to work in some defense plant during that vacation. There are most likely thousands of others who are willing to do the same thing—some would work without pay perhaps under certain conditions and others would want to be paid in order to be able to buy more bonds and to help pay the higher taxes that are coming.

We have been told there is a shortage of labor and it seems that this suggestion I am making would add hundreds of thousands of hours to production and result in speeding up output of motors, tanks, guns, etc., for our boys and the united nations. Perhaps at a later date, if necessary, some men trained in their vacation period could to advantage work three or four hours an evening in addition to their regular day time job.

ESTATE ASSETS.

Cicero, Ill., July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I was named administrator over some property left by my parents to look after it and keep it in repair from the money taken in for rent, which amounts to $21 a month. At the end of the year I divide the money that is left among my brothers and sisters. When the property is sold it should be equally divided among the children. One of my brothers died leaving his share to his son. Now that son wants to sell his share to me.

2. Can I buy this share from him without going thru legal proceedings? He also claims if we do not buy it he will make a will of his own leaving his share to the girl he is about to marry.

3. Can he do this? He is now serving in the United States army.

4. Is he entitled to that money and can he make a will of his own when my mother's will reads the money is to be divided among us children? S. C.

1. The question whether the death of one of the children would terminate his share would depend on the wording of the will.

2. Yes, if the wording is such that he has a share.

3. See preceding answers.

4. Same.

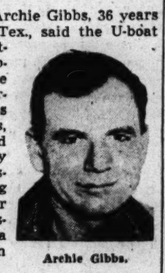
U. S. SAILOR KEPT CAPTIVE 4 DAYS ABOARD U-BOAT

Sub Survives an Attack with Bombs.

AN EAST COAST PORT, July 26—An American seaman told of spending four days a prisoner aboard a German submarine after the raider had torpedoed his ship and then picked him up while swimming in the ocean.

The seaman, Archie Gibbs, 36 years old, of Roscoe, Tex., said the U-boat underwent an attack in the Caribbean sea while loading fresh torpedoes. He was kept below decks, however, and couldn't say whether the missides were being taken aboard or merely transferred from a storage space on the sub.



Archie Gibbs.

Gibbs said that at 1 a. m. June 17 the Germans opened fire with an anti-aircraft gun on the deck and two bombs exploded near the craft. He surmised that a navy airplane had surprised the raider.

Survivor of Two Ships.

Two ships were torpedoed from beneath Gibbs before he was picked up by the undersea raider. The loss of both vessels already has been reported by the navy.

Another sinking announced today was that of a small Canadian fishing schooner. All of the crew of 11 were rescued.

The new sinkings raised to 399 the total of vessels sunk in American and adjacent waters since Pearl Harbor, according to an unofficial Associated Press compilation. Of these, 340 have been lost near the shores of the United States, with 2,088 known dead, 1,906 missing, and 11,378 rescued.

Gibbs was in the water, swimming in search of a lifeboat, when he found himself near the submarine.

"Somebody hollered 'comrade!' or kamerad'?" he said, "and I yelled back 'no, American.'

'Scooped Me Up.'

"I started swimming away, but they brought the stern of the sub around and scooped me up out of the water.

"A big German grabbed me and hustled me up to the conning tower. He stuck a pistol that looked like a big Bertha under my nose and asked me if I knew what I would get if I didn't answer questions.

"I told him 'I know my Germans.' They questioned me about the ship. I told the name, but they didn't get out of me our destination."

Meanwhile, the submarine had fired two more torpedoes and shelled the ship to the bottom.

Gibbs was asked whether he wanted to go overboard or stay with the sub. "What else could I do?" he said.

Taken below, he was made to lie on the floor in the torpedo tube compartment. The tubes all were empty.

Crewmen offered to share their rations with Gibbs, but he couldn't eat "because the food was poor." He said there were hints the Germans didn't like the fare, either. One man smashed a plate of cheese on the table, and spattered it over the compartment, he said.

Gibbs was kept in the control tower while the torpedoes—five of them in all—were being lowered thru a hatch into the tube compartment.

With no advance notice, Gibbs said he was told at 9 a. m., June 19, to get his lifebelt and go on deck.

A warning shot from the anti-aircraft gun had halted a small trading boat near the sub, and Gibbs was ordered to swim to the little craft.

He was landed six hours later on a large Caribbean island.

Gibbs said the U-boat crewmen acted like men "who knew they had a dirty job to do and wanted to get it over with and go home."

One sailor who entered the crew's quarters with a "heil, Hitler," got a calling down, Gibbs said, from another crewman, who growled "nix on the heil."

Canadian Fishing Ship Sunk.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, July 26 (AP).—A fishing schooner from Lockeport, N. S., has been sunk by shellfire from an axis submarine off the Nova Scotia coast, but all her crew of 11 men are safe after rowing 100 miles to land, it was disclosed tonight.

The 30 ton Lucille M. became the first Canadian fishing vessel to be sunk by enemy action in this war when the underwater raider, surfacing near her at dawn, shelled her and peppered her with machine gun fire after ordering her crew into the dories. Three of the crew were injured. One of these was struck by shell fragments when he returned to the ship to retrieve some possessions.

60,000 BRITONS JAM SQUARE SHOUTING FOR A SECOND FRONT

LONDON, July 26 (AP).—A crowd estimated at 60,000 jammed Trafalgar square today and shouted approval of immediate opening of a second front.

Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, Laborite member of commons from Islington, said: "It might mean another battle of Britain or an attempted invasion of Britain and hardships such as the people of these islands have not had to endure before. Are you ready for all this?"

A mighty "Yes" arose from the crowd.

Meanwhile, at Pontypool, Ernest Bevin, labor minister, said in a speech that those who shouted for a second front were "feeding" Hitler by creating division in the country.

DRAFT PROPOSAL FOR BUILDING OF CARGO AIR FLEET

Senate to Get Plan Today for Special Board.

Washington, D. C., July 26 (AP).—A measure creating a military supply board to direct the immediate construction of a fleet of cargo-carrying airplanes was drafted today by Senator Josh Lee [D., Okla.] and Edwin C. Johnson [D., Colo.] for introduction in the senate tomorrow.

The air fleet's primary purpose would be to supply the needs of American forces in Alaska, Hawaii, and foreign areas, but the planes also would carry supplies to united nations forces.

Would Hear Higgins.

Lee asserted something must be done at once to offset inroads made into merchant shipping by submarine sinkings, and told reporters he would seek to have the measure assigned to the military affairs committee for immediate consideration.

Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the military affairs committee, said that if this course were followed he would schedule hearings at which testimony would be heard from Henry J. Kaiser, west coast ship builder; Andrew Jackson Higgins, New Orleans ship builder, and aviation experts and military officials.

Kaiser recently proposed assigning nine shipyards to construct flying boats similar to the 70 ton Mars built by the Glenn L. Martin company of Baltimore, Md., and Lee said the proposed measure would make this possible.

"We have got to do something to defeat the submarine menace," Lee said, "and I believe the construction of cargo-carrying airplanes may be the answer. I expect there will be objections from official sources that it can't be done, but maybe we can find out in hearings whether the obstacles are insurmountable."

Would Create Supply Board.

The resolution drafted by Lee and Johnson would create a supply board composed of the secretary of war, secretary of navy, war shipping administrator and War Production board chairman.

Kaiser left Oakland, Cal., today for Washington to appear before the senate war production committee.

He was asked if he intended to present his proposal to President Roosevelt, and replied:

"I think it is only just and proper to present this program to the various wartime agencies before it is put before the chief executive."

TELLS HOW NAZIS JAM AIR AGAINST SPEECHES BY FOES

The axis powers, besides forbidding their residents to listen to foreign broadcasts on penalty of death, have set up elaborate systems of jamming [artificial interference with reception] to prevent getting the news from abroad. Nevertheless Europe is listening to the voices of England and other united nations.

In an article in London Calling, British Broadcasting corporation's short wave publication, W. A. Sinclair, makes this claim and states that the Nazis and Fascists have trained large staffs of experts to make jamming more effective.

"This is one of those very obvious points about propaganda warfare in Europe sometimes overlooked outside Europe," he contends. "A man may not simply go to the microphone and address the people of Europe as a man may go to the microphone and address the people of the United States or the people of South Africa or Australia."

Axis engineers, he continues, have set up many stations solely to broadcast disturbing noises to make broadcasts other than those from the axis powers unintelligible.

ILLINOIS TROOPS IN CAROLINA FOR WAR MANEUVERS

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wadesboro, N. C., July 26.—Thousands of young soldiers of the 6th army corps are bivouacked near here tonight on the eve of the air-ground phase of the first army maneuvers since Pearl Harbor.

There is astonishingly little evidence that a vast number of men are spread over an area which will grow to more than 5,000 square miles in North Carolina and South Carolina by Sept. 1. Here and there are sentries on the roadside, occasionally the traveler may see a concentration of armored vehicles half concealed by woods, and "jeeps" bounce in and out almost underfoot. But concealed in the timber ready to be split into the "Reds" and the "Blues" are armored and motorized divisions, tank destroyer units, quartermaster and ordnance services, engineering corps, and observation, pursuit, and bombardment units of the air arm ready to simulate warfare under field conditions.

No Phony Equipment Now.

There will be no wooden guns or phony armored equipment this year, as there were in the 1941 maneuvers before the country was at war. Now when a light tank is called for a light tank will be there, instead of a sign on the side of a peaceful truck. The maneuvers will be realistic to the last detail with the exception there will be no live ammunition.

The new weapons are at hand and the troops know how to use them. It is not necessary to remind the boys from Texas and Maryland who rub shoulders with boys from Illinois and Ohio that they are being toughened for combat on other shores. They are living tonight in their pup tents out in the concealing scrub, the infantry and artillery men "rug in" not alone for practice but in anticipation of the drenching rain that blew up in late afternoon. They haven't been pampered in the two weeks they have passed in preliminary phases of the maneuvers, but they have been well fed, even if they haven't had much chance for baths. It's pretty hard to do much in the way of allover ablutions when water has to be hauled and about a canteen a day for drinking and washing is all that can be spared a man.

Too Tired for Baths.

In Wadesboro the USO has 10,000 cakes of soap and 9,000 towels to cleanse some of the boys on maneuvers if ever they get to town. But when they're thru marching, bivouacking, and digging in for the night after a long day there isn't much time or inclination other than to turn right in or delay it only long enough to watch one of the movies the USO contrives to show every night the troops aren't on the go. Digging in is now standard procedure as well as concealing the earth, which is dug up, with leaves or grass.

At headquarters of the maneuvers, Maj. Gen. E. J. Dawley, commander of the 6th army corps, said today, "Constant emphasis is being placed on use of natural and artificial cover during war games. In order to survive in combat every soldier must be trained daily in the art of individual and collective camouflage."

Temperature in Nineties.

Since the troops are almost constantly on the move, headquarters is the only base camp and the sole concentration of tents and vehicles. Orderly and well laid out, it does not indicate by its size the huge number of men operating under headquarters command. The rolling pine covered country, checked with cotton and corn patches and cabins of sharecroppers, is excellent for maneuvers since it conceals the troops.

The temperature is up in the nineties and when the sun beats down tanks grind the sandy gravel road to deep dust which, with rain, turns to muck. On the hotter days dust rises in such choking clouds that single vehicles are held to a road speed of 20 miles an hour and convoys to 15 or 10 or even 5 miles an hour. It has also become necessary to post sentries at the old-fashioned wells on the croppers' land to keep soldiers from drinking uncertified water. Details are not being made known in advance on the character of the air-ground phase save that it will simulate attack with and defense from the air arm.

Veterans of 32d Division to Meet in City Sept. 5-7

Officials of the Red Arrow Club of Chicago will meet in the Morrison hotel tonight to complete plans for the annual convention of the 32d Division Veterans' association of the first World war. The convention will be held in the Morrison Sept. 5 to 7. It will be the first gathering of the famous Red Arrow division veterans outside of Wisconsin and Michigan from which states the organization was originally recruited.

THE QUESTION.
What is the most enjoyable stay-at-home vacation you ever had?

WHERE ASKED.
Randolph Street Illinois Central station.

THE ANSWERS.

G. W. Helthaus, railroad supply executive, St. Louis, Mo.—The only vacation we ever spent at home was when our baby was too tiny to go vacationing. It was pleasant because for the first time I realized what it really was like to be a father. I think my little daughter and I have understood each other better since.

Josephine Morrison, student, 1604 Euclid avenue, Chicago Heights, Ill.—This year I spent my vacation at home when every one else was coming home for their vacations. I had such a good time visiting with old friends that I usually missed seeing other summers that I think I'll try it again next year.

Edwin B. Bailey, actor, Shoreland Hills, Michigan City, Ind.—Usually I come home from vacations exhausted and ready for a real rest. This year I spent my vacation at my home in the hills. I took leisurely swims and long walks. It's not necessary to recuperate from a vacation like that.

Alice Cornelius, student, Gary, Ind.—I haven't had an out of town vacation yet when I haven't come back with an ugly sunburn. This year I stayed right here on our Lake Michigan shores and by slow degrees I put on the most beautiful even tan.

Mrs. Herman Owens, waitress, 632 East 41st street, Gary, Ind.—The last vacation I had I spent right at home in the kitchen. I canned all the fresh fruits in season and I'm proud of all the brightly colored jellies I made. All winter long I'll feel that those two weeks were well spent.

Ruth Cornelius, student, Gary, Ind.—When I last lived in Chicago I spent a vacation right there because I was going to move from the city. I made a tour of all the museums and points of interest. I had a better time on that vacation than all of those other out of town vacations.

Garden Party Planned for John Cudahy

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Chicago chapter of the American Friends of Poland has a pleasant diversion in view for next Sunday afternoon—a garden party at Westwood farms, the country home of Mrs. Higinbotham Patterson. When the group heard that John Cudahy of Milwaukee was to speak on "War and Poland" Sunday morning on the Northwestern University Reviewing Stand radio program, the reception from 4 to 7 o'clock was planned to welcome him. By Sunday afternoon most of the Chicago chapter's members will be spinning up Milwaukee avenue to Libertyville or making the trip by train.

Col. George T. Langhorne, who heads the Chicago chapter, is in Upper St. Regis, N. Y., with Mrs. Langhorne. In his absence Robert Hall McCormick will greet the visitor. About 100 guests are expected, including representatives of the army and navy.

Charles S. Deweys Will Miss Garden Party.

Unfortunately Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, another stanch supporter of the group, who has been at the Drake hotel for several weeks, will miss the party. Mr. Dewey arrived on Friday night, and they'll be returning to Washington, D. C., tomorrow.

The Deweys' younger son, Lieut. A. Peter Dewey, reported yesterday to an eastern training school, where he will study for a month or so before going on overseas duty with the air transport command of the army air force. Foreign service will be an old story to young Peter Dewey, who has crossed the Atlantic five times since the start of the war, representing the Office of the Coördinator of Inter-American Affairs in Washington.

Another Chicagoan associated with the air transport command, known until recently as the ferry command, is Lieut. Col. James H. Douglas. By mid-September Mrs. Douglas will have closed their Lake Forest home and headed for Washington with the four Douglas children to join her husband. Luckily the Douglases have a house in Washington awaiting them.

Bar Harbor, Me., Cottage Colony Is Filling Up.

From Bar Harbor, Me., comes news that the cottage colony at the resort is gradually filling, with most activities centering in the Bar Harbor club. The board of governors has announced that a series of Sunday evening buffet suppers will be held during August. There will be tea dancing daily at the club, beginning next Saturday.

Mrs. Charles S. Frost of Lake Forest is at Up-a-Way, her summer cottage at Northeast Harbor. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barnes have arrived at their residence on Somes sound, and Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Brien are at Seal Harbor. Miss Mildred McCormick was an early arrival at the resort. Her sister, Miss Elizabeth McCormick, is in New York.

There won't be so many Chicagoans in Bar Harbor and the surrounding resorts this summer, for the Potter Palmers aren't opening their home there, and the Chauncey McCormicks haven't yet left for Seal Harbor, nor are they likely to go. They are at their Naperville farm. Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick so far hasn't decided to open her Bar Harbor house, either, and, like the Palmers, is at home in her Chicago apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer are celebrating their 34th wedding anniversary today, but are not having any party to mark the occasion. Mr. Palmer III. expects to start active service with the navy soon. His younger brother, Gordon Palmer, an ensign in the naval reserve, is in Washington, D. C.

Frederick P. Bassetts' Family Circle Is Enlarged.

Within 10 days the Frederick Pomeroy Bassetts have welcomed two new members into their family. A telephone call from Boston on Saturday brought news of the birth of the Bassett's first grandchild, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pomeroy Bassett of West Newton, Mass. Young Mrs. Bassett is the former Betty Von Colditz, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Shorey of New York and of Dr. G. Thomsen Von Colditz of Cocoa, Fla. Ten days earlier another of the four Bassett boys, John Andrews Bassett, was married in Santa Barbara, Cal., to Miss Marian Lacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Lacey of Pasadena, Cal.

The Jack Bassetts had the simplest kind of wedding and a short trip to Lake Tahoe and San Francisco before he entered the army last Monday. The bride attended Pine Manor and Mills college. Mr. Bassett, who was graduated from Andover and Yale university, class of 1933, formerly taught aviation mechanics as a civilian in California and hopes to get into the same branch of work in the army. He formerly was married to Katherine Gise of Toledo, O.

Robert Bassett also is stationed on the west coast in the army, and Fritz Bassett is expecting to be called into service soon.

Mrs. Smith Pirie Sets Aug. 15 Wedding Date.

Mrs. Smith Pirie and Lieut. John Orr Giles have decided to be married on Aug. 15. The ceremony will be a quiet one, in the bride's Lake Forest home in the presence of the two families. There will be no attendants. Lieut. Giles hopes to be able to take his bride on a short trip, if his navy orders permit. As long as he is on duty here, they'll make their home on the north shore. Mrs. Pirie is a daughter of Franklin P. Smith of Lake Forest and Palm Beach, Fla., and Lieut. Giles' mother is Mrs. Harry Giles of Lake Forest.

Mrs. Frank B. Washburn of New York has announced the engagement of her daughter, Pauline, to Francis Day Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gamble Rogers of New York, and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Day of Lake Forest and of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Rogers of Chicago. Miss Washburn attended the Brearley school and Radcliffe and Barnard colleges. Mr. Rogers is a graduate of St. Paul's and Yale university, and attended Trinity college, in Cambridge, Mass., and received his degree in architecture from New York university. The wedding will take place in September.

Col. and Mrs. Lucius B. Manning will be passing thru town this week on their way to Washington, D. C., from Santa Barbara, Cal. They expect to be at home in Washington for the duration.

Mrs. Jacob Bischoff and her children are at Les Cheneaux Islands with the Marshall Haywoods for a visit. Mr. Bischoff left on Saturday to spend this week there.

Mr. and Mrs. David F. Badger [Lucy Botts] of Evanston have named their first child, who was born on July 21, David Botts Badger. The baby is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Graeme G. Botts and Mrs. David F. Badger of Evanston.

Glenview Library Worker and Her Young Son

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Life is not althogether pleasant when one is being photographed, thinks two month old James Charles Bengston. His mother, Mrs. James O. Bengston of Glenview, belongs to the Glenview Library association, whose members are engaged in individual projects this summer to help furnish the library at the Glenview naval air base.

Stage Notes

Two summer theaters have made eleventh hour changes in their plans for the current week. The Port Players, at Shorewood, Wis., will hold over "The Wookey" for a second week, with performances from Wednesday thru Saturday evenings. The box office response to "The Wookey" warrants the extension, and furthermore, Klock Ryder, who was to have appeared in the leading rôle of "Village Green" this week, is in the hospital for an emergency operation. The Port Players' production of "Village Green" has therefore been indefinitely postponed. "Rain" will be revived next week, start Aug. 5.

The Theater of the Dunes, at Beverly Shores, Ind., has decided to give "White Cargo" this week, as a hypodermic to the box office. The drama of sex in the tropics will be presented from Thursday thru next Sunday.

Ravinia Whiles Away a Drowsy Day Tunefully

BY EDWARD BARRY.

There are times when a man wants his deeper emotions to be let alone—when he would rather leaf thru a picture magazine than read "War and Peace" and when an invitation to listen to Beethoven's Ninth symphony would seem an actual affront.

A drowsy Sunday afternoon in midsummer is undoubtedly one of these times, and the program which Eugene Ormandy and the Chicago Symphony orchestra offered at Ravinia park yesterday was an ideal one under the circumstances.

It stressed the light and the entertaining, and listeners were not required to go much below the top layers of their experience and understanding in order to grasp it. Mozart's blithe overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" led to Haydn's "Military" symphony, a work whose stern name is the result of a mock military episode or two in the slow movement but which consists in reality of a long succession of innocent, whistleable tunes.

Certain passages in the "Unfinished" symphony do, it is true, suggest the great and exalted Schubert of the later C major symphony, but it is quite possible to take the work at its surface value and to enjoy it in an unreflective way without bothering about its implications.

As if to make amends for their near approach to the sublime, the musicians jumped immediately into a Johann Strauss group. Mr. Ormandy knows instinctively every device by which this kind of music can be packed to the brim with exhilaration and delight.

In the overture to "The Bat" and in "Tales from the Vienna Woods" he demonstrated again and again his mastery of the delayed accent, of the subtle ritardando, and of all those other tantalizing effects which can make a listener beg with his whole soul for the completed phrase and all but leap with delight when it is finally set before him.

At the end of the Pizzicato Polka [and again after the Perpetual Motion] Mr. Ormandy and his men drew a gasping little laugh from their audience—a laugh that represented the highest possible tribute to the patness and perfection of the performance.

This concert was the fourth and last of Mr. Ormandy's engagements this season. Saturday night he directed a program which began with a first Chicago performance of his own transcription of Bach's Toccata, Intermezzo, and "Fugue" in C major, and went from that to Beethoven's Eighth symphony. After the intermission the violinist, Joseph Szigeti, and the cellist, Gregor Piatigorsky, were heard in a strong and uncompromisingly austere performance of the Brahms double concerto. The attendance Saturday was one of the best in Ravinia's history—more than 6,500.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

Much has been written about housing conditions in Washington, and cartoonists and humorists find plenty of material in the shortage of houses, apartments, and rooms in the nation's capital. But right on our own north shore there's a shortage of quarters that's not funny to any one concerned. Officers from the Great Lakes naval training station find it so difficult to obtain quarters for themselves and their wives that they'd beg, borrow, or probably even steal apartments if they could.

Mrs. Frank P. Hixon.

Because of this the women's division of the Lake Forest OCD has made the housing problem one of its chief interests, and a large committee is busy finding quarters for navy men and their wives, and even providing the quarters in some cases. Mrs. George S. Chappell Jr. is chairman of the housing committee, with Mrs. Howard Linn as co-chairman. Assisting them is a large corps of women, some collecting furniture, some renovating it, some painting walls and woodwork, as well as furniture, some investigating the rooms and apartments that are offered for rent to the naval officers, and others interviewing prospective tenants in the OCD office in Deerpath.

The last named group really has a difficult task, for often scenes such as this are enacted in the office: Time, 3 p. m. "Just an hour ago Mrs. Blank telephoned from Highland Park that she had a vacant three room apartment. If you rush right there I'm sure you and your wife can get it." The speaker was Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson. The young officer to whom she was speaking was out of the office almost before she spoke. "I am so glad to find something for him," Mrs. Ryerson said to one of her co-workers, "he's been on the waiting list so long." Her pleasure was short-lived, however. In 30 minutes he was back, for the apartment was gone when he reached it.

No wonder two young officers politely inquired of Scott Durand as he stood in the courtyard of his Lake Bluff estate whether there wasn't something in "all those buildings" that could be used by them and their wives as living quarters. Mr. and Mrs. Durand operate a large dairy, so that "all those buildings" are in constant use.

And the women of the OCD are as avid as the officers in tracking down unoccupied rooms for their list. This was evidenced by the way a member of the housing committee jumped when Mrs. Louis E. Laflin remarked at a party recently that she had been thinking of giving up her gardener and renting his apartment. "How soon can we have it?" asked the OCD worker. "But I found I needed the gardener," continued Mrs. Laflin, blasting the hopes of the OCD member.

Housing is not the only activity of the women's division of the Lake Forest OCD, but it's one of the main ones these days. Mrs. Frank Hibbard is in charge of the furniture depot, where donations are stored, and Mrs. Linn heads the renovating and redecorating committee. Mrs. Charles F. Glore, Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, Mrs. Donald Ryerson, Mrs. Daggett Harvey, Miss Harriet McLaughlin, Mrs. Russell Lord, and Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, who heads the entire division, are some of those who work regularly in the housing department, upholstering, painting, or doing anything that seems most necessary at the moment.

Mrs. James Ward Thorne is "doing" a bedroom now in the old Rumsey house at 900 East Illinois road, which the committee is getting ready for occupancy by seven couples and a number of single men. The couples will have apartments on the first two floors and the men will be on the third floor of the enormous old house. This will be the sixth building the women have put into shape and furnished. They already have "done" a house at 797 Sheridan road that belongs to Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, the Thorne Donnelleys' farm cottage next door to Arden Shore, and two apartments and one cottage on Walden, the Cyrus McCormick estate. Seven chief petty officers and their wives are living in the Hopkins house, sharing the kitchen and dining room. The committee has found quarters for more than 200 officers, in addition to those mentioned above.

Mrs. Chappell and Mrs. J. Beach Clow are in charge of the placing and the office files on housing; Mrs. Morrow Krum is office manager, with Mrs. Richard Gunthorp as her co-chairman; Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr. and Mrs. Jay Whipple head the interviewers; Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr. is chairman and Miss Louisa Burrows co-chairman of the messenger service; Mrs. Harris Wilder heads the medical service; Mrs. Clay Judson is canning chairman; Mrs. Stuart French is in charge of publicity, and Mrs. John P. Wilson Jr. of class registration.

Mrs. Thomas Conners heads the community garden project; Mrs. Scott Bromwell has charge of the telephone service; Mrs. Proehl Jaklon directs the youth service; Mrs. Henry Rhode is corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frank Baker heads the speakers' bureau; Mrs. Ward Farnsworth has charge of the office for the men's division; Mrs. Owen West and Mrs. Conway Olmsted direct the salvage effort, and Mrs. Thomas Taylor is grease and fat chairman.

It is hoped that many of the 200 OCD women workers [there are twice that many signed up] will take part in the Lake Forest day parade on Aug. 5, when the women's division will have several floats. Mrs. Telfer MacArthur and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen are in charge of the women's participation in this activity.

Production work in the Red Cross, which went forward at such a fast pace right after Pearl Harbor that the warehouses were overstocked, is commencing again in earnest at the request of the army and navy. These institutions have asked the American Red Cross to prepare all of its 3,750 chapters for the production of a large number of surgical dressings, James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter, has announced.

To meet this request as quickly and as efficiently as possible, an extensive training program to standardize the making of dressings is now under way. The Chicago chapter has been asked to teach all the Red Cross chapters in central and northern Illinois. Before starting the teaching program here Mrs. William B. McIlvaine of Lake Forest and a group of other Chicago chapter workers attended a special institute held in St. Louis for instructors in this work. They recently returned and have started training instructors from all the Red Cross chapters in this district.

Among the newest groups to take the American Red Cross' Junior First Aid training course are the Bud Billikins, a group of young Negro boys, who will meet at 2 o'clock today at the Boys' club at 40th street and Michigan avenue, to begin their course. The course will be given for eight days, two hours a day, by Mrs. Doris L. Gans, a Red Cross first aid instructor.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

INSTALMENT XXXI.

SIR JAMES' ADMISSIONS.

The news of Sharon's suicide, her written confession, and the discovery of the guns had a tremendous effect upon Sir James. He was like a man finally acquitted after a long, nerve wracking trial. Elaine seemed almost as much relieved as her husband.

"Jove! I don't mind telling you I am relieved," he said as he sank into his big armchair. "Decent of Sharon to confess. After all, when you stop to think of it, she really had more motive to kill that blackguard than any of us, for he had wrecked her life. But I was in a tight spot. Looked as tho I did it to keep him from wrecking mine. Now I can relax."

He looked ten years younger than when Juliet had last seen him. He was boisterously cordial to all of them, particularly to Morelos.

Dinner was served in the dining room across the garden immediately after cocktails with which Sir James insisted upon toasting every one, "my beautiful wife," "sweet Juliet," "my great friend, Philip," and to "that star of the Cuernavaca police department, Señor Morelos." He was positively garrulous.

"You consider the case closed, don't you, Morelos?" Philip asked.

"Well, Señor—when you get a confession"—Morelos shrugged his shoulders. "Of course, there are still a few minor points. In Mexico there is no trial—just a judge's decision."

Lynn interrupted.

"Juliet, I owe you an apology. Want to tell the whole story—from the beginning—"

There was no stopping him.

"When Elaine and I came down here I introduced her to Lord Festone. Had to spend most of my time arguing with your government, Morelos."

Morelos smiled.

"Anyway, at first I thought I was lucky to put Elaine into such good hands. Then I noticed she'd become enamored — or that Festone hung around my wife more than I wanted any man to do.

"Tried to understand. She was young and beautiful. I was what I am. Felt I'd made a mistake in taking a young woman—"

Elaine leaned over and patted his hand. She seemed happy for the first time in days. He beamed upon her, his gray eyes full of pride and love.

"Asked Harold to go away—"

Morelos nodded. He knew that.

"Juliet came. About ten days ago began getting letters saying my wife was having an affair with Harold. Didn't want to believe it—but I was furious — jealous—heartbroken — sick —whatever you want to call it. Had seen notes written on Juliet's typewriter. Knew mine were written on it, too."

Elaine interrupted.

"Could you check, Morelos? You might find that Mrs. Lathrop wrote those notes while she was here."

"A shrewd conclusion, Lady Lynn," he agreed, "but of course, typewritten notes are difficult to trace."

Juliet looked at Philip. He reached beneath the table to squeeze her hand. Sir James continued:

"Knew I'd done everything I shouldn't do. When Elaine asked me for that divorce I was so furious I couldn't see straight. Called Harold. Threatened him. Told him to get over to the club for dinner. Didn't know just what I was going to do, but I knew I was going to do something.

"Loaded my guns. Threatened my wife when she didn't want to accompany me. Took one of the guns with me. Left the other on the mantel. Meant to shoot him."

Sir James stared belligerently at Morelos as if to dare the investigator to say anything. Morelos, busy eating, nodded.

"Surprised to see Mrs. Lathrop with Lord Festone that night. Hadn't asked her. Had no urge to shoot him right there in the club. Got drunk too quick. Then he and Elaine went away.

"Talked wildly to Sharon. She took me home. Did what I've told you before. Waited around trying to make up my mind to kill him when he brought Elaine home.

"By that time I was so drunk I couldn't hold a gun. Put it on the mantel with the other. Maybe Mrs. Lathrop picked it up and took it to her room."

"I guess she wasn't as intoxicated as you thought she was," Elaine suggested.

"But those guns were on the mantel the next day!" Juliet pointed out.

"Well, Mrs. Lathrop was in the house the next morning. She could have put one back," Sir James answered.

The serving of dinner continued thruout his discourse, altho every one except Sir James and Morelos had been too fascinated with his account to eat. Dish after dish was brought in and taken away unfinished.

"Let's see—where was I? Oh, yes —thought I heard a car. Knew I wasn't capable of doing the thing I wanted to do, thank God. Went to bed.

"Heard next day that Harold had been murdered. I was frightened. Done everything a man shouldn't do. Other people had motives for killing him, but I seemed to have the greatest. I'd talked all over the place. I tell you I was beastly scared."

He banged down his fork to emphasize his fright.

"Anyway, I started to burn the notes. I was called away—think I went to Elaine's room. When I came back Juliet was beside the fireplace. Her expression was odd. Couldn't be sure whether she'd taken the notes or whether they'd burned up.

"The next night I was—well—fixing my corns. Cut my foot. Show you, Morelos, if you insist."

"I'll believe you."

"Got some blood on my sock. Thought your prowlers would find it, Morelos, and call it Lord Festone's blood. Went out when I could and burned the socks in the rubbish heap."

He beamed on everybody.

"Your story is quite interesting, Sir James. Is that all you have to tell?" Morelos was scanning the older man's face.

"Gad, isn't that enough? I wanted to clear up a few of your beastly puzzles for you. Now that you know the murderer, there is no use in my keeping anything back."

"Then you did not put a sedative in Señorita Johnson's brandy?" the detective questioned.

"Mine!" Juliet exclaimed.

"Why no—no," Sir James stammered. "Didn't know she was drugged. When was this?"

Morelos spoke sharply.

"I believed you until just now. Sir James, I saw you slip the sedative into the señorita's drink—the sleeping tablet Dr. Alvarez left for Lady Lynn." All eyes turned toward the baronet. Taken by surprise, he scratched his bushy eyebrows, and stammered:

"Eh, eh, bally stupid of me to deny that. Yes I did it, but I was ashamed to tell you—to let you or any one else think I went around giving knockout drops to my guests. Yes, I put the sedative in Juliet's brandy. Thought if she had those letters I'd find them. Went to her room later that night, but as I opened her door she seemed to rouse and I was afraid the sedative was too mild for her to sleep soundly while I searched. So I went away without them. Went there the next day while she and Philip were out walking. Found the letters in toe of her slipper. Burned them with sock."

Loving Mother's Sacrifice Often Is Ill-Advised

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

When distraught mothers write us a tale of financial stringencies in their respective households, we notice worry is rarely for little luxuries for themselves; always for the children. Indeed, they do not ask comforts for themselves, altho they admit to wishing there were money for furnishings or for remodeling the home, but even these normal domestic desires are urged into expression for a growing daughter's sake, a nicer home to which to bring her friends.

We are so often struck with the complete unselfishness of parents in these confidences extended us. We observe it among acquaintances and friends, too. The sacrifices made for her children by a mother on a limited budget are so heroic, one's hat is doffed out of sheer admiration for maternal selflessness.

Yet we wonder, often, if mothers are wise in this respect. We wonder if the new frock, obtained by mother's sacrifice and, perhaps, extra work, wouldn't be a better contribution to daughter's character, and to mother's own morale, were the garment appropriated for mother's own use. It's human to indulge one's youngsters. We are all capable of it and guilty of it. But the question is: Does it build stamina, character, future usefulness, to raise the child to think everything must be done for her.

The obvious answer is that mother's sacrifices often are the cause of keen maternal disappointment in her grown children. The grown young woman, by reason of her home training, becomes a self-seeking, selfish young person, too often with a sense of shame toward the mother whose sacrifices for her girl cost her own prideful upkeep. Also, her attitude toward her home in lack of responsibility, as well as lack of pride in it, causes anguish.

Good Morning!

You looked at the title and thought you were going to the Mardi gras, didn't you?

No soap! You're just an innocent bystander at another murder mystery mixup in which cop pursues cop. Or so to speak.

It's this way.

Detective Steve Abbott has a beautiful, dim-witted wife whom he adores. To retrieve letters she had once written to George Wallace, a wealthy boulevardier, he steals into Wallace's home on a foggy night—and finds there the body of the householder. . . . Because he had been investigating the gambling activities of the deceased, he is accused of the latter's murder by Lieut. Richards, his rival for the position of police commissioner.

Now, who do you suppose murdered the unworthy Wallace?

This is one of those gayly, grisly, button buttoners. . . . It's smartly acted by likable players. You'll hugely enjoy both Preston Foster and Albert Dekker as the policemen and, I think enjoy some hearty laughs—more with than at—Patricia Morison. [I DO wish she'd stayed a brunette!] Paul Hurst and Charles Butterworth are fun, and Dooley Wilson, as Shadrach, the Abbott's butler, is to Steve what Rochester is to Jack Benny.

The film is fast moving and you'll have to do some fast thinking if you penetrate its secret before you're supposed to.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., July 26.—Watching Diana Barrymore do her "big scene" in "Between Us Girls," I found my heart aching for the kid. It's the sequence where she portrays Queen Victoria at the century mark, and tho the scene will click with the public, its excellence is purely a result of the makeup expert's art. Every great actor, man or woman, possesses one or more individual traits of expression which become a sort of hallmark to his public—a trick of the voice, a gesture of the hands, some idiosyncrasy of facial expression. These things are achieved by painstaking study in projecting his individuality. The close observer will find nothing of this in the smooth young face beneath the aged makeup, for Diana as yet has no slightest grasp of real acting. Young, headstrong, and inexperienced, she's starring in a picture in which she might much better be playing a bit. . . . It's too soon for an old stagehand like myself to make predictions, but not too soon to warn her that she's in danger of being destroyed by a tradition. People remember her father as one of the great artists of our time—but they forget the years of unflagging work and study, of road shows, and one night stands, successes and failures that went to make up John Barrymore's technique. I think Diana has forgotten that, too. She's casting aside the heritage of a great talent, developed the hard way, for the heritage of America's No. 1 "playboy"—which was never anything except a minor property in John's bottomless bag of tricks.

Diana Barrymore as Queen Victoria.

Hollywood Tattle-Tales.

When Norma Shearer was back east in Fifi's Monte Carlo Beach club, a tall, blond soldier asked for her autograph. She was there with Monty Arrouge. Norma was gracious. Later, when the soldier asked for a dance, she was still gracious, so they had three. Next night she was at Fifi's with Doris Duke Cromwell and the soldier—minus Monty.

Helpful Hint.

Julien Duvivier, who directed "The Great Waltz," gets letters smuggled out of Paris telling him that they're still playing that picture over there under cover, also that Gene Autry and Abbott and Costello are the most popular. Their pictures are smuggled in, too. Duvivier is combing the airplane factories for a couple of females for "Flesh and Fantasy." Well, I know one fine actress he could find at Lockheed, on the graveyard shift. Her name is Lillian Tucker. . . . Incidentally, she recently helped redecorate Mary Pickford's house. The bedroom especially caught my fancy. It's a perfect setting for Mary—soft wool rug of periwinkle blue, chairs upholstered in same color, comfortable, overstuffed easy chairs and gay chintz, bed of quilted raisin satin in sunburst design, with spread the same, curtains of raw silk, with interlining of red flannel which gives a heavenly color when sunshine pours thru. There are niches on either side of the fireplace for her collection of Chinese figurines. In the bay window is an especially designed table, filled with current magazines and a bowl of pink lilies. Beside Mary's bed is a lifelike painting of her mother.

Got Something There!

Bing Crosby's not angry—just hurt, being called our worst dressed actor. Says Bing, "How about Lou Costello, Chico Marx, Andy Devine, Wallace Beery, Walter Brennan, Preston Sturges, John Garfield, Gregory La Cava? Do you think any of those guys would get the prize for being well dressed?" Well, no! . . . Yep, David Selznick knows a good thing when he sees it, and that's why he put Joseph Cotten under a long term contract. No, he won't play Father Chisholm in "Keys to the Kingdom." Cotten doesn't think he has the spiritual quality necessary for that part. Smart man. . . .

Certainly a New Idea.

Brian Donlevy came across an exciting story—"No Power on Earth"—on which he took an option. Now he's campaigning for Buddy De Sylva to star him in it. It's about America's No. 1 criminal, snatched from Sing Sing's electric chair by mysterious forces. The next thing he knows, he's in Berlin as a guest of gestapo officials, who are anxious for his advice. They want to adopt American gangster tactics in their organization, and he's to tell them how. . . . Fritz Lang, who will write, direct, and produce "Never Surrender" [which is the story of Nazi infested Czecho-Slovakia, with Heydrich, the hangman, playing an important rôle], tells of narrowly escaping the clutches of Heydrich when he himself escaped from Germany—which incident will be included in the script. . . .

Opinion Still Free.

I suppose I'll be shot at sunrise for saying if they'd cut Shostakovich's Seventh, which Toscanini and Stokowski are raving about, down to half an hour, it would be magnificent, but in its present length it's a bore. There—I've said it! Go ahead—shoot!

This Time It Happened.

There's a little man named Whitlach who repairs typewriters at studios. When he's thru his work, he types a few sentences, half a page, maybe a page, to test the machine, then goes on his way. He did this for the secretary of Carey Wilson—wrote a whole page, tossed it into the waste paper basket. On his way to lunch, Carey stopped to dictate a letter, and while thinking, glanced down, saw the page, which wasn't crumpled, picked it up and said, "Who did this?" The reply was, "I don't know. Only the typewriter man was here." "Get him on the phone and find out." She did. That one page will be made into a short. It tells the story of his child, stricken with infantile paralysis, and no money for doctors. The studio paid him $700 for the story. Writers Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett are paying for the little girl's treatments.

Flood of Mail Reaches Sally for Party Bids

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

(Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.)

I can see by the big stack of mail on my desk that you boys and girls liked the party news I had for you in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, didn't you?

Good movies are always fun, and there's nothing quite so refreshing as slipping into a comfortably cooled theater for a few hours' escape from the heat. The Roosevelt theater will soon show "Tarzan's New York Adventure" and on Aug. 6 I'm going to take my party guests to see this new film. Your old favorite, Johnny Weissmuller, will play "Tarzan," of course, and Maureen O'Sullivan and "The Boy" and Cheeta, the chimpanzee, are also in the cast.

The big city is amazing to Tarzan and such things as buses and elevators scare him, but before he's thru, he thrills and surprises the whole town by scaling tall buildings and diving off of Brooklyn bridge.

One hundred boys and girls will have a chance to see this movie by winning invitations to our party, which will take place on Thursday, Aug. 6. Of course, I'd like to take every youngster who wants to come, but that's impossible, so I'm going to try to find the children who would most enjoy seeing "Tarzan's New York Adventure."

If you'd like to be included in this group, it's up to you to convince me that you are really sincere and eager to come. Write a letter, telling me why you'd appreciate an invitation to this party, and be sure to include your name, address, and age. See that it's in the mail in plenty of time to reach me by next Thursday morning and I'll do my best for you! Just remember that you must write that letter all by yourself, and mail it to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

On the House

As a substitute for brass, comes a new line of plastic trims for installation of linoleum for walls and floors. . . . This plastic line is attractively designed and comes in six colors: red, black, brown, blue, gray, and ivory. . . . Actual test installations, it is asserted, prove that this new line is quite practical since the plastic parts, in the form of banding strips, cap strips, etc., are strong, durable, and easy to install. —LOUISE BARGELT.

"Bowdy" chicken is an aristocratic old southern dish which might be an idea for an informal company dinner some time soon. You use a stewing chicken, a slice of ham, spice, and dark molasses. And if you proceed in the traditional manner, you get a culinary treat. Here are the directions, according to a time honored recipe:

BOWDY CHICKEN.

Cut up a stewing chicken, salt and pepper the pieces, and roll in fine cornmeal. In a heavy iron pot fry a thick slice of fat ham. Take it out and add 2 tablespoons of bacon drippings to the ham fat. Brown the chicken to golden color in the fat, turning it as it browns. Cover the pot and cook very slowly without adding any water. When the chicken is half done return the slice of ham, cut into serving portions, and add three whole cloves, a blade of mace, and ½ cup of thick, dark molasses. Continue cooking at a low temperature until the chicken is tender. There will be a sticky, dark brown, fragrant gravy left in the pot with the chicken, and the dish will taste like nothing else on earth, except Bowdy chicken!

Here's a simple little recipe which I rediscovered in an old family cookbook recently. It makes a good luncheon dish, especially for children. The original wording is retained.

SCALLOPED CHEESE.

"Cut a thick slice of bread and lay it in a buttered baking dish. Butter the bread, then finely cut over it about ⅛ of a pound of cheese. Season well with pepper and salt, then pour over all 1 cupful of milk into which an egg has been mixed. Bake until a golden brown." Supplementary information: This is a "for two" recipe, but it's easy to enlarge. Use a 325-350 degree oven for the baking.

Heavy government buying has limited the supply of canned salmon, but there seems to be enough available to allow for a salmon loaf now and then. Individual loaves are more fun than a big one.

INDIVIDUAL SALMON LOAVES.
[Six.]

- 1 pound can salmon
- 3 cups bread cubes
- ½ cup chopped celery and tops
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup thick white sauce

Flake salmon and combine with bread cubes, celery, onion, and seasonings. Beat eggs and add to white sauce. Stir into salmon mixture and fill small, well greased pans. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes. Unmold and serve with chili sauce or lemon flavored white sauce.

Experts have such healthy horror of being the victims of a throw-in play that they often go to extreme lengths to escape that fate. Note East's valiant play in the following deal:

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

♣ K 8

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 club	2 spades	Pass	2 no trump
Pass	3 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

South's jump overcall was stretched. He had the requisite three and one-half honor tricks, but not the eight winners.

West opened the club ten. Dummy ducked, East won with the ace and returned a low club. Declarer won and laid down the ace and king of trumps. East, after careful thought and with an eye on his partner's nine spot, deliberately played the spade queen underneath the king! If the jettisoning of the queen cost a trick [he shrewdly figured] it would surely be compensated by the fact that he would avoid being thrown on lead with the queen and forced to make a ruinous return.

As may be seen, East's reasoning was 100 per cent correct. After the unblock of the queen, declarer was helpless. A third spade lead was won by West, who returned the ten of hearts. The jack covered, and East won with the queen. East laid down the club queen as a safe exit card. Declarer ruffed but eventually had to concede two more tricks, and with them the loss of his contract.

Now let us see what the result would have been if East had hung onto his spade queen. The third round of spades would have thrown East on lead. Then, when he laid down the club queen as an attempted exit, declarer could make him a gracious present, discarding a heart. East then would be forced to a fatal lead. A club would go into dummy's established suit; a diamond would give declarer a free finesse and, finally, a heart lead would confine the defenders to one heart trick.

Attractiveness Ruling Note in College Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

Some of the college shops are staging opening day celebrations this week . . . doormats have been dusted off, new paint and decorations applied, all in welcome to the hundreds of college bound freshmen and their parents, seriously concerned with the right selection of what's what on any campus. These shops are counselor staffed havens for the bewildered shoppers, with usually knowing sophomores and upper class members ready to dispense pertinent information on wardrobe problems.

This year it's wartime and there are many changes. College girls have always had definite ideas of what they wanted and what was right. This year the urge is to be pretty. After years of maintaining a high average for sports type comfort for a college wardrobe, of choosing tweeds and sturdy materials, very casual models, very loose jackets, and too big sweaters and cardigans, it's a refreshing shift of sentiment to watch them all vote for clothes and accessories that will flatter.

Some of the best looking, most flattering daytime dresses are of the simple one piece variety with such interesting details as stitched bands in curved and even more intricate formation, soft shirrings, unusual detail in yokes, low hiplines, and in the sleeves. Skirts are soft in silhouette with flared outline around the hem. Soft woolens and heavy crêpes, both draping easily and effectively, are ideal materials for such dresses. Plaids are gayer, younger, and better than ever, especially the eye-catching Scotch patterns. Velveteen is another favorite, used in dirndl dresses, in clever very young looking two piece suits and for date dresses. Corduroy is third on the preference list, used for coats, suits, dresses, extra jackets and sports clothes.

If you would make the right impression this first year of college the only thing to do is to park your worries, problems, and troubles with the counselors in any college shop . . . for they're the girls who know all the tricks and answers.

Chicago Urban League Ends Membership Drive

The Chicago Urban league yesterday celebrated the end of its 1942 membership campaign with a reception in headquarters, 3032 Wabash avenue. The league receives a part of its $25,000 budget from the Community fund, but must raise a like amount from persons interested in the problems of the Negro. The league this year will also seek a special fund for employment of a full time state field worker to protect the rights of Negroes and fight discrimination against Negro workers. Mrs. Lovelyn Evans, a director of the league, yesterday told the reception crowd that she had just returned from Joliet where she found evidence to support charges of discrimination against Negro workers.

Thru the Looking Glass

We have seen, with our own eyes, hair set in a smart style without any session under the dryer! Our first reaction is to dust off the Hollywood adjectives. It's a step, certainly, toward the millennium, and rather a long one—but how widespread its benefits will extend immediately no one can say because it's done not with the aid of mirrors but with a new machine. And [c'est la guerre!] machines that use metal, and rubber, as this one does, bring us right smack against the problem of priorities.

Instead of being set in pin curls the hair is wound on perforated wooden spools, fat ones, and slim ones, and little ones. Rubber hose forces warm air from the machine into these spools, which are plugged tightly at one end. The warm air, shooting out thru the perforations, dries the hair in practically nothing flat—so quickly, in fact, that six curls are wound and dry by the time the operator starts winding the seventh! One side of the head is thoroly dry before the other side is completely set.

We saw one woman leave the shop—set, dried and combed—25 minutes after she had her shampoo. Another, who had her hair cut first, was out in 30 minutes, fresh of face and unrumpled of frock. It's incredibly cool, and quick, and comfortable.

The hair must be well shaped with this new method that dries as it curls and the stylist must be skilful. Whether it would be successful with every style we don't know.

The heads we did see had crisp curls that stayed in beautifully. For a 3 inch or feather bob it's ideal. As a matter of fact, for most any woman, this pioneering in the good cause of freeing us from our slavery to the scorching dryer after the shampoo is exciting!

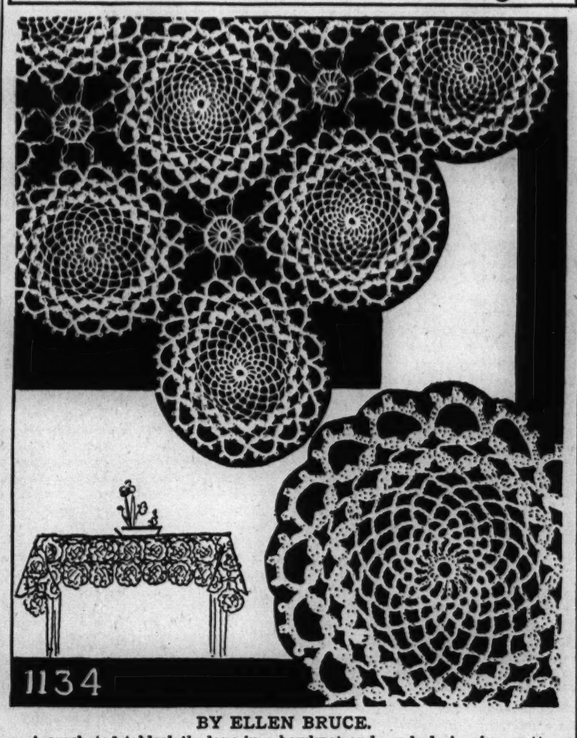
Bowknot Tablecloth Design



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A crocheted tablecloth done in a bowknot and mesh design is an attractive, yet simple, needlework trick and is the answer for those who want to make a tablecloth in a short time. Mercerized crochet cotton is an ideal medium. The same design, incorporated in fine linen, creates a lovely banquet cloth.

For instructions in crocheting the bowknot medallion for a tablecloth, No. 1134, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Grandparents' 'Spoiling' Is Often Asset

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

I think the summers that I spent with my grandparents were among the happiest times in my life. My mother said my grandparents spoiled me and perhaps they did. All I know is that those summer days were days of bliss. I was one of a large family and my parents were good to me, but matter-of-fact and strict, and grandpa and grandma were neither. I remember things such as sitting in the kitchen, and having grandma talk to me and tell me stories while she cooked, and listen to me, too. She'd always bake some batter in a little pan for me when she was making cake, and there were always some cookies made in funny shapes to delight a child.

Grandfather, altho he worked from dawn until dark, often had time to talk to a boy, and unconsciously I absorbed the feeling that he liked having me around. Perhaps they spoiled me, I don't know. But whatever it was, it did me more good than harm. I believe there are lots of children who need this kind of 'spoiling' from loving grandparents.

I agree. All that kind of spoiling does is to make a child feel loved and wanted and free. But, and here's a "but" that I would like to put in capital letters, the kind of spoiling described in the following letter does not come under that head. It is selfish, and stupid, and unfair to the grandchild and to the parents:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"My husband and I have a very lovely little boy, going on three years old. We always have paid a great deal of attention to his manners, and so forth. We have given him a set routine and a lot of discipline. He is a child that we can well be proud of. We have worked hard, doing this, and it has been more than worth it.

"But our problem is this: The age-old controversy about GRANDPARENTS!

"One side of the family is fine. Very coöperative, wonderful, really. But the other ——!

"We are not allowed, in their presence, to touch the child, literally and figuratively speaking. They coddle him, teach him rather precocious little tricks. But it's futile to go into further detail about it. You probably can guess the rest. However, it has gotten beyond the stage of being a nuisance, it's a real problem. The baby refuses to mind us, which is hardly his fault. He says that his 'gramp and grams' told him he didn't have to do anything he didn't want to do, regardless of WHO tells him to do it.

"I think if you were to print an article on this subject it would help a lot of frustrated parents. This thing has really gone too far to be amusing."

BY RUTH MACKAY.

For Job-Seekers.

A letter beginning "Can you please tell me what type of letter of application for employment is more effective—the simple letter or the unusual one?" raises a question that puzzles many job-seekers.

The unusual letter does attract attention more readily, but—unusual for conciseness and clarity, not for eccentricity. Let the young woman bear in mind that the usual letter in a stack of applications is poorly organized, rambling, and lacking in information of the sort which proves fitness for the job.

"We've had letters in rhyme, in slang, in parable form, and in the third person," said one of our ablest employment directors, "but we don't think much of them." Her suggestions are:

"Tell the things the employer wants to know, wording your letter carefully and assembling the facts so at a glance he can see what are your qualifications for the job.

"Tell what you have done and what you can do."

As an example, this employment director cited a short, pleasant letter with a separate sheet attached outlining neatly and plainly the name and address, telephone number, nationality, education, subjects specialized in, school record, attendance and punctuality record, typing speed, ability to operate business machines, and other salient facts of the job-seeker's qualifications.

Vacation Memory.

It doesn't have to be a long, far-away vacation to be remembered. Doris Dahlquist writes: "Last evening we watched the most unusual sunset from the shores of Lake Michigan at Bethany Beach, Sawyer, Mich., which perhaps was visible only in that locality. The setting sun was behind heavy clouds but it cast two perpendicular rays to make a perfect V—a message of hope and encouragement to the weary soul."

Slacks.

The long arm of coincidence: On the same day that a gentleman telephoned to inquire about offices which permit the wearing of slacks came this verse in the mail:

To go in this army of Waacs;
We'd give up our car without kicking
But we couldn't give up our slacks.

Nina Baker.

And Slack.

As for the man who wants to know whether slacks are suitable to all types of office workers—it depends on whether there's slack in the slacks!

The Winner.

The Music Lovers' club of Camp Grant points with pride, as do we, to the selection of a Chicago lad, Corp. Florian Za Bach, as guest star on the Tommy Dorsey radio show tomorrow evening. Za Bach's experiences as a violinist have included a recital tour of Europe, appearances on many radio programs, including the W-G-N symphony, and, prior to his induction into the army, as a staff artist for NBC. He was chosen by overwhelming vote from all the talent at Camp Grant, and in addition to the laurels, gets a three day pass, all expenses paid, and a $100 war bond.

Vagabond Days.

From F. E. M., vacationing in Colorado:

They'll Play a Big Part.

The colored houseman who works for a friend of ours on the North Shore asked permission to have the day off. When Mrs. K. agreed, and asked him why he wanted an extra day, he replied, "A lot of fellows I know are going into training for the army. And I want to see 'em start off to set that Rising Sun."

More Semantics.

Upon reading the item in this column concerning semantics, in which reference was made to words as buttons that button down our thoughts, Mary Marie, who writes a sparkling column for the Putnam County Record, wonders whether advertising man J. F. B. Jr. had the same idea when he wrote the following:

MORE PRONUNCIATION BLUES.
Id est, is the county
"Putnam" or "Putanam?"

Just a Breeze.

One warm day last week Gertrude Alden Neely and her guest, an Englishwoman, were lunching in a downtown department store. Suddenly the guest remarked that she wished she had an afternoon cooler. Miss Neely, a bit puzzled, was about to order lemonades, when a maid appeared carrying an armful of pasteboard fans. A fan, it turned out, was what the woman called an afternoon cooler.

SHERIFF FACES SLOT MACHINE INQUIRY TODAY

Threat Hurler Is Linked to Guzik-Vogel Ring.

Named on List Guzik Lost.

Last October, it will be recalled, Guzik lost a set of ledger sheets which showed how the 12 collectors had brought in $99,235 in one month from slot machines in one section of Cook county. The agent listed as "Tony" brought Guzik $23,309 during July.

THE TRIBUNE published the secret bookkeeping records showing that the syndicate's profit ran into millions and its pay-off for protection into thousands of dollars. The secret records were turned over to State's Attorney Courtney by THE TRIBUNE.

Yesterday, after Fragassi had been identified in the Circus bar, Cwiklinski went to Uncle Tom's tavern. The place is operated by a widow, Mrs. Valeria Thumel, and her daughter.

The widow said that three weeks ago two men brought the machine to her tavern. She said she asked if it was legal to have it on her premises and they said yes.

Given "Trouble" Number.

"When the photographer took a picture of the slot machine Friday night," Mrs. Thumel said, "I remembered I was told that whenever there was any trouble about the slot machine I was to call Niles 9807 and ask for Jimmy Johnson. I did.

"The man who answered said Jimmy Johnson wasn't there, but he would take a message. I told him about the man taking a picture of the slot machine. He said he would take care of everything. Twenty minutes later two men I had never seen before came to my place and took the slot machine away."

A subpena calling for her appearance before the grand jury today was handed to her. Then the prosecutor, Fragassi and a detail of policemen went looking for Jimmy Johnson. They learned that Niles 9807 is the telephone number for a gasoline station operated by Arthur Lorenzen, aged 54, at 7169 Milwaukee avenue, corner of Touhy road, in Niles.

Denies Knowing "Jimmy."

"I don't know any one named Jimmy Johnson," said Lorenzen who lives across the street and who also operates a restaurant next door to the gas station. "Last month there was $76 put in my telephone coin box. I thought it was because many truck drivers use the place to send and receive messages."

Lorenzen also was given a grand jury subpena.

A score of tavern keepers in the neighborhood were also summoned, Cwiklinski said.

Lost Ledger Sheet Figures in New Racket Probe

Student Robbed, Held 3 Hours in Trunk of Auto

Police are searching for two tough gunmen who early yesterday drove a robbery victim around for nearly three hours in the trunk of their car. The victim is Norman Hall, 20 years old, 7314 Bennett avenue, a junior at the University of Detroit, who is awaiting induction as a naval air cadet. He was held up at 63d street and Drexel boulevard, robbed of $5 and his $50 watch, and then forced to sit in the trunk of the car. He was released in the same area. Hall said it was a most uncomfortable ride, explaining he is 6 feet 2 inches tall.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN SLAYING.

Candie Mingo, a Negro, of 3845 Cottage Grove avenue was arrested yesterday as a suspect in the fatal shooting of Willie Adams, also colored, in a flat at 445 East 49th street Saturday.

1,000 NAVY FLYING CADETS A MONTH CITY'S NEW GOAL

At least 1,000 naval air recruits a month is the goal set for the Chicago area, Lieut. Comm. Carl G. Olson, senior member of the naval cadet selection board, has announced.

He said 356 youths have been enlisted so far this month and 451 were signed up during June. Any youth between the ages of 16 and 26 who can pass the physical examination and who has a high school education is eligible to apply.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly indorsed the summer drive, which will continue until Oct. 1, saying: "Every one is conscious of the important part aviation is playing in this war. Chicago will do its part."

NON-ESSENTIAL SPENDING STILL TOO HIGH: BYRD

Federal Economies 'Only Scratch the Surface.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 26.—Only the surface has been scratched in effecting economies in administration of the federal government, the Byrd committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures declared tonight in its second report, pledging surveillance of war agencies next.

The committee, headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] and including members of the senate and house as well as Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau and Budget Director Harold D. Smith, recalled that in its first report Dec. 24 it recommended reductions in federal spending totaling $1,301,075,000. Since then, the committee reported, appropriations for 1943 have been voted which are $1,313,983,208 less than similar appropriations for the preceding year.

Some Agencies Coöperate.

"Of course, the committee does not claim sole credit for these reductions," the report said. "Some of the agencies themselves have coöperated in bringing them about."

The committee noted especially that the committee recommendation for abolition of the Civilian Conservation corps has been voted by congress.

"It marks the first complete dismantling of a major depression agency," the report said. "The CCC had spent $2,278,000,000 in 8½ years. This indicates a step toward a more prudent fiscal policy suitable to a nation at war.

200 Billion Debt Seen.

"With the national debt standing today at approximately 80 billion dollars, with it increasing every day at a tremendous rate necessitated by the war and augmented still further by other expenditures, and with unexpended war balances totaling 160 billion dollars, there is in prospect a national debt of at least 200 billion dollars. This of course takes into consideration revenue which is meeting not more than 30 per cent of expenditures this year.

"With such a fiscal future in view, the need for every possible economy in nonessentials is urgent. Therefore, the committee contemplates a vigorous continuation of all phases of its work for reduction of nonessential federal expenditures."

Along this line the committee remarked that up to the present time it has hesitated to look into war agencies because they were in the process of organization and because of the imperative nature of the business of most of them.

War Policy Changes.

"However it seems to be more and more evident that the time is approaching for the committee to change this policy," it said. "There is a growing need to examine closely the activities, practices and expenditures of the so-called defense and war agencies. It is to be hoped that these agencies are approaching, at least, a leveling-off stage where efficiency and vigilance over practices properly may be demanded without interference with the maximum war effort."

CITIES REPORT RISE IN COSTS, LESS REVENUES

Two-thirds of American city governments are spending more this year than in 1941 as a result of the war, yet only a few cities have developed new sources of revenue to meet these increasing costs, the International City Managers' association reported yesterday following a survey.

Of 185 cities covered by the survey, 40 reported budget increases principally in the fire and police departments and 35 said expenditures in all departments will rise. More than a third said increased expenditures are mainly for higher salaries, and another third, generally larger cities, said they have expanded activities to meet demands of additional population.

In an effort to meet their financial problems many cities are reducing expenditures for relief and welfare, street maintenance, building inspection, and parks and recreation. Capital outlays largely have been discontinued and some cities report no new equipment is being purchased.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Three youngsters from the South Side Boys' club, led by Arthur White, who won the 100 yard swimming championship for 11 and 12 year old boys, captured the team championship in their division yesterday in the 13th annual meet sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The Shawnee Country club, with two championships, a second place, and a third, piled up 14 points to take the girls' title in the Chicagoland finals in the California park pool.

By their victory the Shawnee girls successfully defended honors they shared last year with the Oak Park club. The South Side Boys' club victory was the first in history for the organization whose entry is limited to the first three age classes for boys from 11 to 16 years of age, inclusive. The club won by the margin of two points over Clinton, Ia.; Milwaukee, Wis., Athletic club, and the Elkhart, Ind., YMCA. Each of these three cities had a champion.

White Wins in Close Finish.

Arthur White's sturdy sprint in the final 30 yards earned a gold medal in one of the closest finishes in the history of the races. In the final yard Arthur reached out to touch the side of the pool ahead of Billy Stanley of the Kenosha, Wis., Youth Foundation. The time of 1:03.5 for the 100 yards was amazingly fast for class A which is limited to boys 11 and 12 years of age. Arthur previously had won the first semi-final race, coasting home in 1:16.8.

Arthur's brother, Alvin White, took third place less than a yard behind Stanley. This added a point to the South Side Boys' club 5 points for the class A title. Riley Rogers, the other member of the South Side club, completed the scoring with a third in the class B finals. Riley was the 1940 class A champion and now has competed twice in class B.

Chicago won only one other boys' title but more than evened matters by taking all the girls' races with the exception of class A in which the gold medal went to Polly Givler of Naperville, Ill.

Elkhart Boy Triumphs.

Pat Fisher of the Elkhart, Ind., YMCA won the 100 yard swim for boys 13 and 14 years old by defeating Rusty Garst of Madison, Wis., who won the class A championship last year. In class C, for boys 15 and 16 years old, Al Stanley of Clinton, Ia., was the winner. His time of

LYONS BEATS A'S, 2 TO 1; THEN SOX LOSE IN 10TH, 3-2

Hits by Blair and Miles Whip Humphries.

The Cubs lost a double header yesterday to the Phils. Story on page 16.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox accomplished enough yesterday to serve the purposes of Ted Lyons' 253d American league victory, but there they stopped. They fixed up the 41 year old youngster with his eighth victory of the year and fifth straight by blowing down the Athletics, 2 to 1, in the front portion of a double header with the Athletics in Comiskey park.

Then with Manager Jim Dykes among the spectators because of a bouncing given him by Umpire John Quinn, the Sox tried to do the same for Johnny Humphries, but their bat work was reduced to a total of four hits by C. Luman Harris. Dykes had to sit by helplessly while his charges were being humbled, 3 to 2, in 10 innings.

Error Costly to Humphries.

However, Humphries was mainly to blame for the defeat. He fumbled a grounder, lost a chance to end the fifth inning, and thus invited the Macks to a two run scoring spree that the Sox weren't able to overcome until the eighth.

The little Dykes incident, not a rarity in the life of the voluble manager, arose while the Sox were making preparations for their first run off Roger Wolff in the eighth inning of the first game. Don Kolloway was called out, Umpire Quinn ruling the batter had kicked a batted ball in front of the plate. Dykes roared forth insisting Quinn had first ruled the ball foul and the manager kept on talking until the inevitable happened. Then as a "rib," young Charley Comiskey dashed forth to ask what Quinn had called it and he, too, was told to vanish.

Kennedy's Hit Wins Opener.

As soon as Dykes had followed orders, the Sox proceeded to score, but in the ninth Lyons was shoved into a 1 to 1 tie because of a triple by Bob Johnson. Ted's associates had to do all the work over again in their half. After two were out Joe Kuhel's drive bounced over Mike Kreevich's head for a triple. This brought up Bob Kennedy, and the budding naval aviation cadet singled on Wolff's first pitch.

Except for a few unimportant happenings the first game remained calm until Dario Lodigiani survived to start the eighth on a pop fly that Bill Knickerbocker lost in the sun. Mike Tresh tried to sacrifice but wound up with a strike out, after which Lyons walked. Kolloway's chance ended on Umpire Quinn's de-

ALL-STAR POLL CLOSES; NAME TEAM TOMORROW

Fans' Choices Will Start Against Bears Aug. 28.

The 1942 All-Star football poll conducted for the last two weeks by 200 newspapers and radio stations in 38 states and the District of Columbia came to an end at midnight last night. The final tabulations, which will be published in tomorrow's editions of THE TRIBUNE, will decide the 11 college All-Americans who will start against the Chicago Bears, National Football league champions, in Soldiers' field Aug. 28.

Heavy returns from all sections of the United States, causing numerous changes in the standings, were received on the final day of balloting. The contest department of THE TRIBUNE was swamped with thousands of ballots, and tabulators this morning will continue their work on votes mailed before 12 o'clock last night. Final totals from out of town newspapers and radio stations will be telegraphed before noon today.

Vote Totals 2,636,672.

The vote now totals 2,636,672. The 11 players with the highest number of votes will start against the Bears, world professional titleholders for the last two years. The opening lineup will be supported by 50 or 60 other players who will be invited by THE TRIBUNE to start practice at Northwestern university Aug. 8 under the direction of widely known coaches. Announcement of the coaching staff will be made this week.

Notre Dame and Northwestern players still were among the leading vote getters in the 11th hour drives. The Notre Dame Alumni association forwarded 80,000 votes for a group of Irish stars, including Steve Juzwik, John Kovatch, Paul Lillis, Bernie Crimmins, Bob Hargrave, Jim Brutz, and Bob Maddock. The large total and votes from many other centers sent Juzwik, Kovatch, and Crimmins into the lead at their positions.

De Correvont in Second Place.

Juzwik's closest rival is Bill De Correvont, widely publicized Northwestern half back, who received more than 70,000 votes from Chicago followers. Juzwik holds first place with 283,682 votes and DeCorrevont has 272,944.

Fisher's heaviest total came from the Columbus, O., Dispatch. The newspaper reported 64,208 votes for Fisher, now an ensign at the Iowa City Pre-Flight Training school. The Dispatch also sent 59,994 votes each for Tackles James Daniell and Jack Stephenson and 60,421 for Jack Graf, who maintained first place among the full backs. The four Buckeye players also are leaders in the poll conducted by the Dayton News.

Back Boys from Steel Mill Area.

The steel mill area of Indiana continued to obtain tremendous support for players from that section who now represent schools in the middle west, south, and Pacific coast. The Gary Post-Tribune reported 71,802 votes each for Peter Mandich, Tulane center; Eddie Herbert, Indiana quarter back; Ray Frankowski, Washington guard, and Half Back Jimmy Richardson, Guard Bill Fugate, and Full Back Doug Renzel of Marquette.

Missouri's three outstanding performers—Quarter Back Harry Ice, Guard Bob Jeffries, and Center Darold Jenkins—were among favorites in Kansas City, Columbia, Omaha, Neb., and other cities. Ice, who is stationed at Camp Forrest, Tenn., has the support of enlisted men and officers at the army post and in his home city of Oklahoma City, Okla., where the leader of the campaign is his father, Harry L. Ice.

Southern players retained their high places on votes reported from the Memphis Commercial-Appeal. Bob Gude, Vanderbilt center, led the day's returns with 43,534 votes. Other leaders were Half Backs Merle Hapes and Junie Hovious of Mississippi and Holt Rast, Alabama end. The Tucson Daily Star forwarded another 27,611 votes for Henry Stanton, Arizona end.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., will play 18 holes, beginning at 2 o'clock this afternoon, for the $15,000 Tam o' Shanter Open golf championship at the Tam o' Shanter Country club, Howard street and Caldwell avenue. They finished the regulation 72 holes yesterday with scores of 280, eight under par. Lawson Little of Monterey, Cal., took third place money of $1,250 with 281. Nelson and Haefner will be playing for first and second prizes of $2,500 and $1,750.

The foregoing is designed to present a factual synopsis of the conclusion of yesterday's doings at Tam o' Shanter, doings that provided a perfect climax to a completely daffy week of golf at the northwest side course.

Nelson Has That Sour Round.

It would require a four color map to chart properly all of the scoring madness that ensued. It's enough to say that Nelson, the golfer's golfer, ran smack into the sour round that must come to all golfers and finished with a 77, five over par. Little, paired with Nelson for the final 18, finished with three bogeys, the last blooming from his failure to sink the eight foot putt that would have caused a three man play-off this afternoon. Little's final round of 70 consisted of a 33 and a 37.

While Nelson and Little were carrying on a battle that drew the bulk of the gallery, estimated at approximately 30,000 by Tam o' Shanter officials, the huge Heaffner was quietly working his way around, three holes ahead of them for the 72 that enabled him to gain the tie with Nelson. A 15 footer for a birdie on the 410 yard 18th made good the big boy's try for a shot at first money.

Finds Remedy for Three Rounds.

When yesterday's stretch run started, it appeared to be a case of who would finish second to Nelson. For the first three rounds, the big Texan apparently had found the remedy for the poor golf that has been plaguing him for several weeks, thanks to a prescription on pivoting by Dr. Ed Dudley during the Ryder cup matches in Detroit. Certainly, he seemed in sound golfing health Saturday, when he wove an eagle and a hole-in-one into the record-tying 65 with which he took a five stroke lead over Heafner's second place, 54 hole total of 208. Little, Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., and Dick Metz of Oak Park were next with 211's.

The wits said that is might be possible to catch Nelson if he should accidentally come down with a broken leg, but Byron's limbs are as true as ever today. And maybe the knowing ones forgot that Ben Hogan picked up eight shots on Nelson in two rounds of last spring's Masters' tournament.

Picks Up Eight in 12 Holes.

Little regained three shots of his eight-stroke deficit within the first five holes, and finished the nine in 33, three under par, against Partner Nelson's 38. That gave Nelson a 63 hole total of 241 shots, Little, 244, and and Heafner, who had gone out in an unimpressive 38 for a 63 hole mark of 246. Nelson and Little got birdies at the 64th hole, but the bushy-browed Heafner quietly slipped in an eagle before they reached that green.

Little then came with the rush that drew him alongside Nelson. A par at the 11th, where Nelson three putted, and a birdie at No. 12, where Nelson buried his second in the sand, left them even. A bad drive cost Little the 14th and Nelson surrendered that to Lawson's birdie at the long 15th. Both missed the 16th green, Nelson

Hanyzewski Strikes Out 15, Sets A. A. Season Record

Milwaukee, Wis., July 26 [Special].—Ed Hanyzewski, the young pitcher whom the Chicago Cubs optioned to Milwaukee early this month, set a season strikeout record for the American association in fanning 15 men as he beat Columbus, 7 to 2, in the first game of a double header here today. It was his third straight victory against one defeat since joining the Brewers and enabled the Milwaukee club to displace Kansas City in first place in the association. One of Hanyzewski's previous victories was in a one hit game against Minneapolis July 18.

Keller Hits 13th and 14th Homers for Champions.

Detroit, Mich., July 26 (AP).—The pennant bound New York Yankees whipped the once troublesome Detroit Tigers for the sixth successive time today as Red Ruffing pitched a seven hit 5 to 2 victory for a sweep of the three game series.

Charley Keller led the Yankees' 12 hit attack, rapping out his 13th and 14th home runs of the year, both with the bases empty. Ruffing, in scoring his 10th victory against five defeats, thus reached the half-way mark toward another 20-game season.

BROWNS BEAT RED SOX TWICE.

St. Louis, Mo., July 26 (AP).—Four hit pitching by Denny Galehouse and a ninth inning double by First Baseman George McQuinn brought the St. Louis Browns a double victory over the Boston Red Sox today and boosted them within three games of second place in the American league. The Browns took the first game, 9 to 2, behind Galehouse's effective hurling, and the second, 4 to 3, when McQuinn, who already had hit a home run and a double, drove a second double against the fence, scoring Harlond Clift from first.

Earley, given five days off without pay by Manager Casey Stengel for alleged lackadaisical hurling, played the prominent part in the Braves' 5 to 2 first game victory, after which St. Louis won the second, 5 to 3.

GREENBERG WINS WESTERN SINGLES TENNIS CROWN

Seymour Greenberg added the Western Men's Singles championship to his North Shore and National Clay Court titles by defeating Jimmy Evert yesterday, 7-5, 6-0, 6-2, at the Beverly Hills Tennis club.

Evert played well in the first set, which was close thruout, but the more experienced Greenberg turned on the pressure and had the situation under control in the next two sets.

The doubles championship went to Fred Kovaleski of Detroit and Arthur MacDonald of Los Angeles, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, over Evert and Jack Cushingham.

South Side Boys Capture Swim Title

:59.4 was the third best in the championships. Graham Davis of the New Trier club was second and last year's class B champion, Robert White of the Skyline Athletic club, took the bronze medal for third place.

Stephen Grimm of Chicago won the class E title and his time 57 9-10 seconds equaled Middlemas' time. This was the fastest mark for 100 yards in the races.

Meet Run Off in Fast Time.

Preliminaries were held in six of the 10 age divisions and the total of 23 races, including the title events, were completed in an hour and 10 minutes. Perfect weather conditions brought out a large crowd that lined the fences on the north, and south sides of the course.

The team victory of the Shawnee Country club girls was expected. It was built around Alice Miller and Barbara Ramser, who took the class C and class E gold medals, respectively. Miss Miller was the 1941 class B winner. Frankie Rose finished third for Shawnee in class C and the club's other points were scored in class B by Shirley Schweger.

Tie for Second Place.

The Skyline Athletic club girls and Beilfuss natatorium tied for second place in the team standings. Joyce Johnson took the class B title for Beilfuss with an excellent mark of 1:11.2. Jean Gerhard, daughter of the Beilfuss instructor, was third in the class A division for 11 and 12 year old swimmers. Marilynn Billquist, whose father is coach of the Skyline club, won the class D championship. Her championship time of 1:07.4 was the fastest in all the girls' races. Skyline's other point was scored by Joan Vielehr, who finished third in class B.

Twenty teams scored in both divisions, three less than the all-time record number scoring points in the 1941 races.

SMITH-BATTEN TEAM TIES MARK IN SKEET SHOOT

Break 200 Straight for Two Man Title.

BY BOB BECKER.

One world record was equaled and more 100 straight scores were recorded yesterday in the finals of the Illinois State Skeet championships at the Lincoln Park Gun club than in any previous event of this kind ever held in the state. The two man team of Gerald Batten, professional of Lincoln Park, and Larry H. Smith, also of that club, tied the world record by breaking all of their 200 targets in the two man team championships.

The individual all gauge, ladies, two man team, five man team, high over all, and professional championships drew 145 shooters to the firing lines yesterday. Officers of the Lincoln Park club estimated that approximately 18,000 shells were fired by the men and women contestants before the winners were decided.

Many High Scores Made.

The combination of almost perfect weather for skeet shooting and the big field of high class marksmen resulted in an unusually large number of high scores. When yesterday's program was only half completed, seven 100 straight scores had been made, more than at any other state skeet championship.

Altho yesterday's events featured the 12 gauge shotgun, C. A. Tilt, Chicago, broke 100 straight with a 20 gauge. Typical of the excellent marksmanship of the day was the record of the five man team representing Lincoln Park. This squad broke 125 straight.

Mrs. Palmer Breaks 97.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, who won the 20 gauge skeet championship Saturday for her fourth skeet title this month, drew applause from both contestants and spectators for her poise and marksmanship while using a 12 gauge gun in the ladies' championship. After missing her first three targets she broke 97 straight.

THE PUTT THAT FAILED FOR LITTLE—BIG SHOW FROM AIR

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Lawson Little's putt (arrow shows ball) stops short of the cup on the 18th green in yesterday's thrilling Tam o' Shanter $15,000 Open, which goes into extra innings today. Had the putt dropped, Little would have finished in a triple tie with Byron Nelson, watching on green, and Clayton Heafner. Instead the latter two will meet today at 18 holes for the title and the $2,500 which goes to the winner.

in the sand at the left and Little to the right. Nelson had a six footer for his par, but missed. Little then failed on the five footer that would have squared it again, and then he drew a really bad break on the 17th. His drive wandered a bit to the right, struck a spectator, and kicked into the knee high spinach. His recovery was over the green into the sand, and he came out nicely enough, 12 feet past, but took two putts to give up another shot.

1,000 to 1 Chance Comes True.

Came the 18th, and a situation that would have been a 1,000 to 1 chance before the round started. Heafner was in the waiting throng clustered around the home green. He thought his 280 was mighty sharp, but didn't fully realize that he was still very much in the picture until he saw the advance scorer's sign indicating that Nelson was nine under par, and Little eight under, even as himself.

Nelson hit his second shot from a good drive onto the green and it ran above a hump off the green, but only 18 feet from the pin. Little was 80 feet short of the flag. He chipped up to within eight feet. Nelson, using a heavy club from a grassy lie, crossed the cup with his third shot by 10 feet. He missed to go even with Heafner, and then it was Little's chance, but his putt stopped just short of the hole.

Heafner, as the matching of cards turned out, had caught Nelson with his birdie at the 18th, Byron's bogey five being reduced by that 15 footer for a three. Little's bogey on No. 17 had eliminated him from the contest, once he failed to hole the putt at the home green. A drive, a No. 4 iron and and 15 foot putt for an eagle at the 10th had put Heafner back in the running.

The cards for the three leaders:

Par, out	453	444	435	—36
Nelson, out	445	444	445	—38
H'fner, out	454	445	345	—38
Little, out	344	494	345	—36
Par, in	534	445	344	—36
Nelson, in	445	445	445	—39—77—203—280
Little, in	433	454	455	—37—70—211—281

Heafner Has Putting Trouble.

Considering a few of the putts he missed before that 15 footer on No. 18, Heafner already might have been on his way up to the imminent St. Paul open tournament. He blew a six footer at the first, another from 15 feet at the second, and then, after failing to connect with the third green, chipped on and couldn't get down a four footer. He chipped to four feet from the edge of the 405 yard sixth and that wouldn't drop either. He overshot the eighth green, and then chipped poorly at the ninth.

The aforesaid helpful eagle followed at the 475 yard tenth, and there was a chance for a deuce at the short 11th, but, again, it didn't fall. He was over the green at the 445 yard 13th. A drive to the bushes at the 14th set him back another stroke, and he missed another holeable putt at the 17th. His second to the home green landed hole high, 15 feet to the right pin. Heafner's reserve cracked enough, after it dropped, to apply a smacker to the ball as he lifted it out.

Little Gets Birdie on First Hole.

Little's campaign to overtake Nelson began with a birdie putt on the first hole, but Nelson came close to answering that when he laid a 35 foot putt for an eagle at the second dead to the hole. Little, however, matched his birdie and picked up another stroke at the third, where both were in the water.

Little got on with his second tee shot while Nelson missed the green and wound up with a double bogey five. An eight footer brought Little a birdie at the sixth. Nelson then missed the eighth green, and Little whacked a magnificent iron second onto the 520 yard ninth for a birdie that left him three under par and only three back of Nelson at that point. Scores for 72 holes:

Willie Joyce, crack Gary boxer, who is a strong contender for the lightweight championship held by Sammy Angott, tonight will risk this prestige in a 12 round bout against Harvey Dubs, competent welterweight of Windsor, Ont., in Marigold outdoor arena, Broadway and Grace street. It will be their third meeting, Joyce being awarded the decision in each instance previously. Each of these hard fights went 10 rounds.

Tho Joyce, who is 24 years old and the 1937 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight title holder, finished fast to outscore Dubs in their rematch of July 6, the longer distance this time may prove a hardship. Willie weighed 137½ pounds on that occasion, nine less than the Canadian Spitfire.

Since the rivals are expected to tip the beam at about the same figures when they step on the Illinois Athletic commission scale this afternoon, Dubs' backers believe the extra two rounds should guarantee the verdict for their 20 year old protége.

That's because of Dubs' weight advantage, which may count a lot in the 11th and 12th, if the encore goes the limit.

Vito Rizzo, west side, junior lightweight who has won 10 of 14 previous fights, will receive an opportunity against a seasoned performer when he faces Gene Spencer of South Chicago in a six round supporting contest.

PLANTS MAY PAY RUBBER DIVIDEND AFTER 30 YEARS

Scientist Sees Chance for Quick Return.

BY WARD WALKER.

Dr. C. S. Dolley.

Its rubber was A1, the plant would grow wild in any tropical or near tropical climate, the latex was easily extracted. Henry Ford and Thomas Alva Edison became interested—they established an experimental 5,000 acre farm in Florida. The biochemist himself planted thousands of the seeds in Mexico. And there the process hung fire.

In Research for 40 Years.

Yesterday the scientist, now 86 years old, stopped in Chicago on his way to survey the old plantings in Mexico, to determine what answer, if any, they offer to the rubber crisis facing the United States. He is Dr. Charles Sumner Dolley, once professor of biology at the University of Pennsylvania, who has been engaged in technical research for 40 years. He and his wife stopped in Lake Forest at the home of John T. McCutcheon, TRIBUNE cartoonist.

"Cryptostegia offers a possible solution of the rubber difficulty," he said. "Its chief advantage is that it will give almost immediate results."

The plant was brought to Mexico by a sea captain from Madagascar who fancied it as a decoration, according to Dr. Dolley. It has branches 20 to 30 feet long and has beautiful blooms and leaves.

Find Rubber Easily Extracted.

"By 1910 the plant was growing along Mexico's west coast in such profusion it was considered a pest," the scientist said. "The natives knew it contained rubber. We found its rubber was top grade and easily extracted.

"The leaves are the principal source of its rubber. These are picked, dried, and ground up. When processed with solvents, the latex floats to the top and is easily drawn off."

Dr. Dolley said plants can be producing within a year and added that the harvest is a continual one since new leaves grow immediately.

"If cryptosegia is growing in Mexico like I think it is, stills could be set up and the extraction started within a month," Dr. Dolley said. "And the old plants would supply the seeds for new fields."

Hybrid Also Grown.

At the Chapman field farm in Florida, a hybrid of the plant has been grown. It is called cryptostegia madagascarensis and is even more productive than the parent plant, he said.

Rubber from cryptostegia contains far less resin than that from the guayule plant, which also grows wild in Mexico, according to Dr. Dolley. For this reason it is much better suited for commercial uses such as in tires.

Dr. Dolley warned, however, that even the most optimistic estimate of the cryptostegia supply still falls far short of the annual requirements of the United States.

"It would carry a good share of the load," he said, "but synthetics will still be necessary. I have great faith in synthetics."

Springfield, Ill., July 26 (AP).—R. Allen Stephens, 67 years old, secretary of the Illinois State Bar association since 1916 and long active in Methodist church work in the state, died in his home today after a year of failing health.

A. section of bar organization activities and was a member of the council on legal education and admission to the bar. He also was secretary of the Illinois public utilities commission, from 1918 to 1921, by appointment of Gov. Lowden.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Cause and Effect

Friend of the YANKS

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

L. A. writes: "What is the likely classification of a person who has been overheated three times in the last 10 years and under medical care each time? This person can not stand the heat."

ANSWER: A thoro physical examination by the army examining physician would be required to determine whether you are fit for military duty.

H. N. writes: "When I was first called to the induction station for a physical examination I was rejected for chronic nephritis. This was quite a shock to me because I never knew I had any such trouble. I went to a number of doctors since and they refused treatment because they couldn't find anything to treat. I've been rejected three times since and am now in 4-F. What can I do? I want to get in?"

ANSWER: It is suggested that you take the reports of your doctors to the draft board and ask it for another examination. If the draft board feels that there may have been some error, or that your rejection was not warranted, it will see to it that you are carefully reëxamined.

S. R. writes: "What are the advantages of the V mail stationery you mentioned in your column a few days ago? If possible, I should like to send a letter by this method. Where does one get it?"

ANSWER: The V mail stationery was designed to reduce materially the weight and space required for the transport of letters to men in service overseas. Ordinary letters weigh about 38 to the pound. The same letters on V mail stationery would run about 62 to the pound. The greatest saving occurs, however, when this mail is photographed on 16 mm. film. A single roll of film, weighing only a few ounces will take care of a sack or so of mail. The V mail stationery is available at postoffices thruout the United States, and is available to troops everywhere in the world.

J. B. M. writes: "I am 29 years old and in class 3-A and only have a grammar school education. I would like to know if I am eligible for officer's training."

ANSWER: With your classification, you could apply thru your draft board for volunteer officers' training. In cases where the applicant has a limited formal education, practical experience will sometimes more than outweigh the advantages of formal education.

D. K. writes: "My husband and I have been separated for over five years. I have a son 8 years old. Will I get an allotment?"

ANSWER: Allotments for a wife and child are compulsory, and will be payable on or after Nov. 1.

FAIL TO UNCOVER 5 ASSAILANTS OF JUDGE MATCHETT

One month ago yesterday five hoodlums assaulted and beat Judge David F. Matchett, 75 years old, judge of the Illinois Appelate court. The assailants have not been found.

The assault occurred June 26 as the elderly jurist was walking from the Sixth Presbyterian church, where he had attended a rehearsal for the wedding of his son, to the home of friends, a few blocks away. Near 61st street and Greenwood avenue five men suddenly accosted Judge Matchett in the semidarkness. One of them struck him on the head with a club, but all fled when the victim shouted for help.

Capt. Ray Crane of the Woodlawn district, where the attack occurred, sighed when a Tribune reporter called him yesterday to ask if there were any developments in the case.

There were none, it seemed.

"We picked up three young hoods a week ago," Capt. Crane said, "but the judge couldn't identify them.

"I wouldn't say that we are any closer to a solution. We question every one we come across who might possibly be guilty, but we haven't found the right ones yet."

ROBBER SLASHES VICTIM'S THROAT.

Leroy Temme, 30 years old, 3505 Belden avenue, was found early yesterday on a safety island at Halsted street and Roosevelt road, his throat slashed. He told police he was attacked by a Negro who tried to rob him.

TRIBUNE WAR WORKER AWARD DEADLINE NEAR

Nominations for First Citation Due Friday.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Time for selecting nominees for THE TRIBUNE'S first War Workers' Award is drawing close. In some plant in the Chicago area—including all Illinois—a man or a woman this month has done an outstanding job—a job which it is hoped will benefit directly America's fighting men in the air, at sea, and on the land.

The first TRIBUNE award will be for a July achievement. Therefore nominations of candidates should be sent to the War Workers' Award Editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, by Friday. None received after Aug. 5 will be eligible for the July award.

Winners Get Gold Buttons.

The award will be made for a service that contributes directly to America's war effort. Among the examples are the following: development of methods for increasing production; improvements in machines that speed production; an outstanding production record; saving of critical materials thru development of substitutes; unusual devotion to duty, and so on.

A handsome solid gold lapel button will be given to men winning the award and a similar pin to women.

Presentation to the award will be made as soon after Aug. 10 as the independent committee selecting the winner is able to report. Members of the committee are: Henry T. Heald, president of the Illinois Institute of Technology; Charles M. Thompson, dean of the college of commerce, University of Illinois, and James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

Examples Are Cited.

Some nominations have already been received and others from the many war plants in the area are expected this week. In previous stories about the award THE TRIBUNE has given examples of achievements by both men and women workers. Most of the stories were about shop employés who by their ingenuity and initiative had developed better methods for making materials badly needed by our fighting men.

A woman in a Chicago electrical plant, for instance, developed a way to do a better soldering job—one that saved time and materials. In a huge steel plant workers set records on the production of steel badly needed for tanks, bombs, shells, and other war goods. In a wire plant a mechanic made an important improvement in the machines used.

Services Honor Factories.

Some of the plants employing men and women mentioned in TRIBUNE stories already have been honored by the army and navy for their splendid work. Now individuals in the plants are to receive public recognition thru pictures and stories which will relate the details of their achievements. Prominent labor leaders and factory officials have endorsed the award.

All workers in war plants in Illinois and Lake county, Indiana, and Kenosha and Racine counties, Wisconsin, are eligible for nomination. The nominations may be made in any way, by an employé-management committee, a special committee, or by individuals.

Two baby girls dressed only in panties of the three cornered variety, ate hungrily of sandwiches and milk provided by police yesterday while a search was made for their mother. Then they were sent to St. Vincent's orphanage for more expert care.

The youngsters were brought to the Warren avenue station by Miss Joan Margolis, 22 years old, of 1832 Warren boulevard, who said their mother, known to her only as Hazel, a tavern cook, left them with her about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, saying she wanted to make a phone call. When the mother had not returned by yesterday morning, Miss Margolis took them to the station, saying she could not care for them nor feed them longer.

One of the little girls, about 3 years old, said her name is Barbara Jean and that her sister is Geraldine. The latter appears about 18 months old. Both pleaded with Sergt. Ralph Petacque and Policeman James Fiorito for "Mama," but were made happier with food the policemen bought for them.

Officers of the elevated trainmen's union were authorized at a meeting Saturday night in the Ashland Boulevard auditorium, 1610 Van Buren street, to "take whatever steps were necessary" in the union's wage dispute with the Chicago Rapid Transit company, W. F. Levander, union president, said yesterday.

Levander said that the union will continue its negotiations with the company for a 13 cent an hour wage increase, and 15 day vacations.

Saturday night's action, it was explained, empowers the officers of the union to call a strike when and if negotiations break down.

Civilian Production Cut to Bone.

Washington, D. C., July 26 (AP).—War Production Board Director Donald M. Nelson forecast by indirection today a few of the drastic wartime restrictions the nation still must face. Announcing arrival of two of his experts in England for a two week study of industrial concentration, Nelson, without comment, offered an outline of British civilian economy "cut down to the absolute bone."

He said England adopted the principle of concentration of industry early in 1941 and, at that time, "had reached a stage which the United States has now reached."

Apply Principles in U. S.

Nelson three days ago announced that the WPB would apply the same principle in this country, choosing a few small plants to carry on the essential civilian production of entire industries, and forcing the remainder of the plants to close down or convert to war work.

Nelson said his experts, Dr. Arthur R. Burns, chief of the civilian planning branch of the Office of Civilian Supply, and Henry A. Dinegar, chief of concentration for the same office, had arrived just as Britain tightened up again on civilian production.

"The production of even the small quotas of a long list of goods which have been permitted in the past will be stopped altogether in England," Nelson said. "In place of quotas for truly essential goods, the government will issue licenses for specific amounts of essential goods and thereby will cut the civilian economy to the bone."

Essential Goods Redesigned.

Under the pinch of total war, Britain has redesigned all "essential" goods and developed what is known as "utility models." For example, 75 per cent of all clothing now made is of utility design, with the 100 per cent mark soon to be reached.

After Aug. 1 no jewelry, cutlery, toys, leather luggage, domestic furniture except nursery equipment, or metal products other than a few essentials can be made at all in Britain.

Soft Red Type Scarce Despite Big Wheat Crop

What some grain men termed a phenomenon—a wheat scarcity in the face of production of the third largest crop in history—developed in the Chicago market last week. Adding to the unusualness of the situation is the fact the United States already has a record supply of wheat in storage.

There is a definite shortage of soft red wheat, according to grain men. This type of grain is best suited for cake and pastry flours altho some grades make good bread wheat, experts said.

Soft red wheat, accounting for about a third of the nation's output, grows in central Texas, eastern Kansas, Missouri, the southern half of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, the central Atlantic coast states, and parts of the Pacific northwest.

Reduced plantings and unfavorable growing conditions cut production in the midwestern areas this year to the smallest volume old timerr in the grain trade can remember. Heavy rains prior to and during the harvest period lowered its quality.

Since wartime transportation difficulties make it doubtful that soft wheat can be obtained from the Pacific coast and intermountain areas, grain men bid actively for the available supplies. Prices climbed at a lively pace thruout the week.

Dealers paid the highest premiums for the grain in relation to wheat futures reported on the Chicago Board of Trade in more than a decade. At the end of the week sales were made at as much as 6½ cents a bushel above the price paid in the futures market for September wheat.

MAGMA COPPER.

What information do you have on Magma Copper company? Has it been able to increase production since 1939 to meet the larger requirements for copper? H. G.

Answer: This company is one of the smaller domestic producers of copper. Its annual capacity exceeds 32 million pounds. Minor amounts of gold and silver also are produced. Ore reserves of the company's Magma mine are not estimated, but as a result of recent developments new resources have been opened and a long productive period is expected by the company. Magma operates its own smelter and also ships copper for refining to another company.

Magma was incorporated in Maine in 1910. Sole capitalization at the end of 1941 was 408,000 shares of $10 par capital stock outstanding. Total current assets at the end of 1941 were $6,958,531, compared with current liabilities of $846,457. A record of recent financial results follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Dividends
1941	$4,659,048	$1,402,255	$2.50
1940	4,086,426	1,132,908	2.50
1939	4,087,963	1,385,852	2.75
1938	2,493,717	654,346	1.50
1937	4,224,485	1,456,332	2.75

Two 50 cent dividends have been paid this year. Capital stock is listed on the New York Stock exchange and ranged from 1937 thru 1941 from 63 to 18¼.

The company last year produced more than 37 million pounds of copper, compared with slightly more than 34 million pounds in 1939. Production of silver and gold last year was up slightly from 1939.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

Pumpkins Don't Grow.

July 26, 1942.

THE failure of a planting of pumpkins in the garden of the Wheaton farm may result in an extra quota of sweet corn for the farm tables this season.

Pumpkin seeds were planted in one corner of the garden but only three of the 70 or 100 seeds germinated. The men have had pumpkins in the garden every year, and this is the first failure they have had with the "pie crop." This gardening misfortune probably can be traced to improper drying of the seeds before planting.

Since it is too late to plant pumpkins, the gardener decided to put in a late crop of Golden Queen sweet corn in the hope that it will mature before a killing frost signals the end of the garden harvest. Sweet corn requires from 75 to 90 days to mature. This last planting of corn will have to survive any cool weather we may have in early October if it is to reach the farm tables.

Catch Insects on Wing.

The relationship between farm harvests and native bird life has been particularly noticeable in the fields of the Wheaton farm this summer, with birds which feed on the wing harvesting flying insects while the men harvest grain and hay. When the men cut the first crop of alfalfa from a field northeast of the sheep barn several weeks ago a colony of chimney swifts joined the barn swallows in reducing the insect life which was forced into the air by the rumble of tractors and rakes.

Last week the trucks, men and machinery invaded the wheat field adjoining the alfalfa, and when we passed that way the barn swallows and kingbirds were having a feast consisting of flying insects which were jostled out of their homes by the harvesting activity.

The farm housewives this week succeeded in getting permission from their rationing board to buy sufficient sugar for canning their supplies of fresh fruit. Two weeks ago one of the farm wives applied for her supply of sugar for canning fruit from the farm berry patch. At the time she had 40 quarts of raspberries, dewberries, and currants picked and ready for canning.

Refused Sugar for Canning.

To her surprise her rationing board alloted her only 30 pounds of sugar for her full season of fruit canning. As she preserves about 400 quarts of fruits and vegetables each year, and last year used about 150 pounds of sugar for canning purposes, she faced the prospect of seeing many quarts of fruit spoil.

All the berries which had been picked were put in a cold storage locker and the case was referred to the Illinois state rationing board. The ruling of this board complied with statements previously made by officials of the Office of Price Administration—that housewives are eligible to receive as much sugar as they need for home canning of fruits. This week she reapplied to her local board and was alloted an additional supply of sugar. Consequently she will be able to can not only the 40 quarts of fruit which she has withdrawn from the storage locker but also pears, apples, peaches, and other fruits soon to be harvested.

INLAND ASSAILS CIO USE OF WAR AS LABOR CLUB

Holds WLB Threats Forced Contract.

The Inland Steel company charged yesterday that it had been forced by two direct threats to accept the "union security" decision of the War Labor board.

The decision required Inland and three other companies of the "Little Steel" industry to institute the check-off system for maintenance of the membership of the Steel Workers' union [CIO]. The decision also required the companies to raise wages 44 cents a day.

The Inland company's charges were made in a letter to stockholders from Wilfred Sykes, president, and Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the board.

Strike Threat by Union.

The officials said they faced these threats: The union threatened to strike unless the company complied. The labor board threatened to invoke the war power of President Roosevelt, meaning, the officials said, that the company's plants would be taken over unless Inland complied.

The letter to the stockholders said the company has complied under duress, taking, in the name of patriotism, a step that it believes to be wrong. The company protested in another letter to the labor board that acceptance of the check-off system, under which the company must discharge workers who do not pay their union dues, violates the National Labor Relations act as well as two Indiana laws.

The company officials also protested against what they termed the union's violence in getting and keeping members, and accused the union of deliberately taking advantage of the war emergency.

Notify Labor Board.

The letter was issued after the company had notified the labor board of its acceptance of the decision. Yesterday was the deadline for acceptance. The other "Little Steel" companies, Bethlehem, Republic, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube, already have accepted.

The letter to the stockholders said in part:

"The Inland Steel company has had to accept the order of the National War Labor board on what is called union security. Inland will sign a contract with the Steel Workers' union providing for the 'check-off' of union dues and discharge of any member who does not keep himself in good standing with the union.

"But Inland does this under duress. In the name of patriotism Inland is compelled to do a thing which it believes to be wrong, because the alternative would interfere with war production.

"The Steel Workers' union deliberately has chosen the period of the war to seek from the government special privileges which it never has been able to obtain by its own efforts.

No Chance to Confer.

"The American public does not realize the full extent to which the union has employed physical violence in getting and keeping members. It does not realize that large numbers of men have joined and remained in the union thru fear and fear alone.

"The company was allowed only 10 days within which to reach a decision. [The labor board acted on July 16.] In that time it could not even consult with its stockholders.

"And facing the company during this 10 day period were two direct threats. The Steel Workers' union threatened to strike if the company did not comply. The War Labor board threatened to invoke the full war power of the President to compel the company to comply, meaning that the company's plants would be taken from it.

"Seldom in the history of democratic institutions has there been such an arbitrary exercise of power by a government agency. Inland's record of devotion to the nation's cause is unquestioned. And now it is compelled, by threat of confiscation, to forego a right never heretofore denied, a day in court.

Makes Some Reservations.

"But no private wrong, however shocking to the individual's sense of justice, can stand in the way of the war effort. A steel plant is a war facility, and not one ton of production can be lost."

In accepting the labor board decision, the company made some reservations. The letter of acceptance commented:

"We are advised that performance by Inland under the maintenance of membership and check-off provision prescribed by the board will violate the National Labor Relations act, the Indiana Anti-Injunction act, and the Indiana Wage Assignment law. Inland therefore reserves the right to take whatever steps are available to obtain a judicial determination on the validity of said provision, and likewise reserves the right to terminate compliance with said provision in case of a judicial determination that it is invalid."

Much Rail Seized for Plant Use; Quota System Aids Steel Mills

Spur Lines Built

Washington, D. C., July 26 (AP).—The plea of the army, navy shore establishments, and the maritime commission for rails to build spurs and sidings is being answered in part by government requisitioning of abandoned and nonessential railroad trackage. The War Production board requisitioned nearly 1,000 miles of track in the last month, officials said today, taking over the material under a "seize first and pay later" policy.

Much of the rail was useable without any reconditioning at shipyards, army posts, navy establishments, and maritime commission projects where vast expansion has necessitated augmenting facilities for handling materials arriving by rail. Rail which requires treatment before it can be used again is shipped to rolling mills for reprocessing, but other material unusable in its existing form is channeled into war use as scrap metal.

The supply of scrap also is being increased by salvaging steel from abandoned trolley car lines.

Production Rises

The principal benefit of the WPB quota system for each steel product and for each producer will be steadier operation of finishing mills, the magazine Steel said yesterday in a survey of the industry.

"Altho the level may be below capacity it will be preferable to the irregular operation in recent weeks, when only limited supplies of semi-finished steel could be allocated after requirements of plate, bar, and structural mills had been satisfied," the trade publication said.

"It appears that sheet and tin plate production will improve under the new plan. Workmen in these departments have been employed only part time and on irregular schedules. Pig iron supply is maintained satisfactorily under the allocation system and essential consumers are well supplied."

National ingot production advanced ½ point last week to 98½ per cent of the magazine's estimate of national capacity. Chicago district production rose ½ point to 102½ per cent.

ROADS TO SHIP LARGE SUPPLIES OF CANNED FOODS FOR ARMY USE

Washington, D. C., July 26 (AP).—Shipment of 10,500,000 cases of canned foods from Pacific coast warehouses will be possible under an agreement by railroads to permit the army to store goods at intermediate points in transit, the Office of War Information said today.

The OWI said the canned fruits, vegetables and fish to be moved to other parts of the country for use by the army were part of the 1942 pack which totaled 12,500,000 cases. The remaining million cases, the OWI said, would remain on the west coast.

Ceilings to Remain; Tieken Urges Sale of Scrap Steel

Robert Tieken, chairman of the Illinois State Council of Defense Salvage committee said yesterday the OPA had notified him that ceiling prices on iron and steel scrap will not be changed. Accordingly, he said, there can be no financial gain in withholding scrap for later marketing. He urged the public to sell the scrap, needed to maintain capacity operations in steel mills, thru established waste metal dealers.

The profit was equal to 82 cents a share, compared with $10,796,498, or $1.63 a share, in the June quarter of last year.

The Atlas Powder company reported net profit of $666,503, equal to $1.94 a share, for the first six months of 1942, compared with $938,110, or $3.04 a share, a year ago. Operating revenues amounted to $17,706,982, against $16,082,722 for the first half of 1941.

EASTMAN FEARS EARLY LACK OF FREIGHT POWER

Urges Even Higher Rail Efficiency.

Washington, D. C., July 26 (AP).—Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, expressed concern today that a freight transportation shortage might be imminent because of a lack of locomotives.

Eastman said the ODT "is seeking to avert a motive power shortage by taking steps to increase the efficiency of locomotive operation," but added that whether the 18,000 serviceable freight engines "will be sufficient to meet motive power requirements of the near future is problematical."

Fewer Engines Do Job.

ODT figures showed that America's 121 major rail systems hauled approximately 300 billion ton-miles of freight [one ton of freight hauled one mile is a ton-mile] during the first six months of 1942. During the first four months of the year the haul was 188 billion ton-miles, compared with the former record of 141 billions in the first four months of 1929.

In the 1929 period class 1 roads had 24,616 serviceable steam freight locomotives to do the job, while in the first one-third of this year 17,893 took care of the new record haul.

Trucks a Big Help.

That no motive power shortage has yet developed, Eastman attributed to: 1. The utility of truck transport in handling many types of short-haul freight; 2. Reduction in the number of local freight trains moving over short distances; 3. The effect of the ODT order fixing minimum weight limits for less-than-carload traffic, and 4. Increased efficiency of locomotive servicing.

Despite these steps, Eastman said "if a future bottleneck in motive power is to be avoided an even higher standard of locomotive efficiency must be developed."

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK
In the Matter of ASSOCIATED GAS AND ELECTRIC CORPORATION, Debtor.
In Proceedings for the Reorganization of a Corporation pursuant to Chapter X of the Bankruptcy Act. No. 75635.

NOTICE TO FILE PROOFS OF ALL CLAIMS OTHER THAN CLAIMS TO ENFORCE, ACCORDING TO THEIR TERMS, SECURITIES OF THE DEBTOR OUTSTANDING ON THE BOOKS OF THE DEBTOR.

1. THIS NOTICE APPLIES TO YOU if you have any type of claim against Associated Gas and Electric Corporation or its property which is NOT a claim to enforce, according to its express terms, any of the following securities or coupons:

5% Eight-Year Gold Bonds of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, due 1940,

All other claims against Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, Debtor herein, or its property are required to be filed, including (a) claims, if any, that the securities which claimants now hold were received by them in exchange for other securities and that such exchange was allegedly induced by fraudulent representations; and (b) claims, if any, of persons who agreed to purchase 8% Eight Year Gold Bonds of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation on an installment payment basis but did not complete their payments and who may contend that they are creditors of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation to the extent of the moneys paid by them.

2. If you have any claim other than a claim to enforce securities or coupons according to their terms, you are hereby notified that:

(a) Pursuant to an Order of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, dated June 22, 1942, all persons having claims (other than certain claims enumerated in said order, including claims enumerated in paragraph 1 of this notice) of whatever character, against the Debtor herein or its property, either in tort or in contract, fixed or contingent, liquidated or unliquidated, and all persons claiming any right, title, lien or interest in or to any property in the possession of the Trustees of the Debtor herein, or to which the Trustees may be entitled, or to the proceeds of the same, shall assert such claims by filing proofs of their claims in the form set forth in sub-paragraph (b) of this notice, with the Trustees of the Debtor herein, at their office, 21 West Street, New York, N. Y., on or before September 25, 1942, or by filing petitions or other pleadings with the Clerk of this Court and serving copies thereof upon the Trustees of the Debtor herein at their said office, on or before September 25, 1942, or be forever barred from asserting such claims.

(b) Proofs of claim shall consist of a full statement under oath, in writing and signed by the claimant, giving his address and setting forth the amount and nature of the claim; a short statement of the facts on which the claim is based, including the date of the transactions therein referred to, the person or persons with whom said transactions took place and the consideration, if any, for said claim; and that the claim is justly owing from the Debtor herein to the claimant.

(c) In the event that any filed claims are adjudicated to be valid upon grounds equally applicable to the claims of other persons similarly situated who have not filed proofs of their claims, the order referred to in sub-paragraph (a) of this notice provides that the Court may extend the benefits of said adjudication to all persons similarly situated, upon such terms and conditions as the Court may deem just.

3. This notice does not apply to you if you are the holder of a security or coupon issued by Associated Gas and Electric Corporation and your claim is simply that you are entitled to enforce that security or coupon solely according to its express terms. No action is now required of you to protect your rights under such a claim. Accordingly, do not file a claim to enforce solely according to its express terms any of the securities or coupons mentioned in paragraph 1 of this notice.

Dated, July 27, 1942.

HOW TO STOP A JAP OR OTHER ENEMY

AS TAUGHT TO THE MARINES by MAJOR DICK HANLEY

MAJ. DICK HANLEY OF CHICAGO, A MARINE IN THE LAST WAR AND FORMER FOOTBALL COACH AT NORTHWESTERN, HAS DEVELOPED A COMBAT TRAINING PROGRAM FOR THE CONDITIONING OF MARINES. IT IS INTENDED TO DEVELOP AN IRON MUSCLED FIGHTER IN 24 WEEKS. ILLUSTRATED HERE ARE SOME OF THE EXERCISES.

by RICHARD FLETCHER

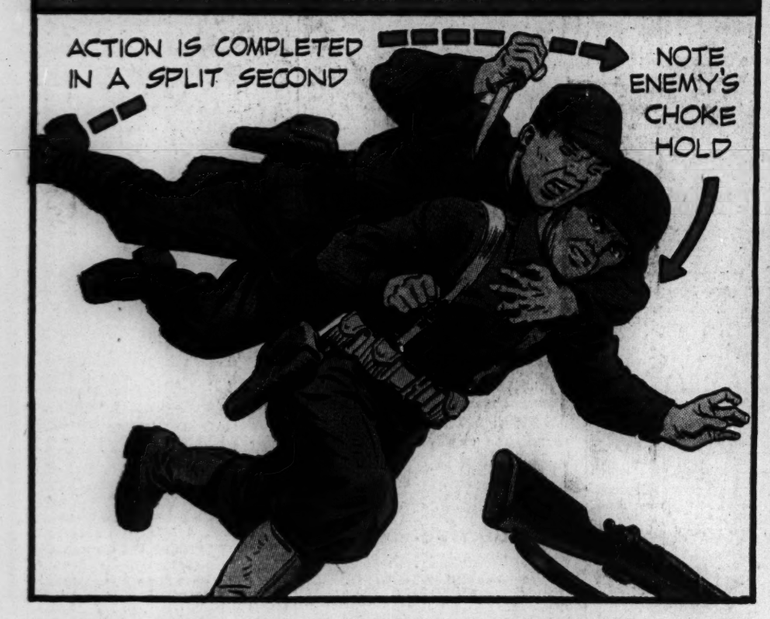
THE JAP DIVES ON THE BACK OF THE MARINE WHO INSTINCTIVELY DOUBLES FORWARD, TAKING FULL ADVANTAGE OF THE JAP'S MOMENTUM.....



THE MARINE QUICKLY TURNS HIS HEAD TO RIGHT AND GRASPS THE ENEMY'S ARM TO AVOID BEING CHOKED—

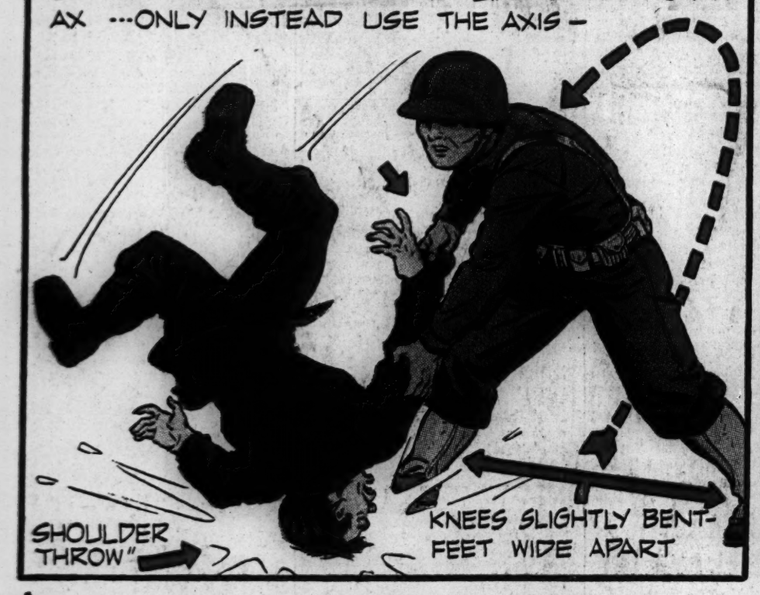
..HE NOW PULLS STRONGLY ON THE ENEMY'S LEFT ARM.....AT THE SAME TIME BENDING STRAIGHT FORWARD, THROWING THE STARTLED JAP OVER HIS LEFT SHOULDER.....

FINAL ACTION: RETAINING A FIRM GRIP ON THE JAP'S ARM HE CONTROLS THE DIRECTION OF THE FALL, DASHING THE ENEMY SQUARELY ON HIS HEAD.....MOTION IS LIKE SWINGING AN AX ---ONLY INSTEAD USE THE AXIS—



WHILE REACHING FOR GUN OR PAPERS THE ENEMY MOMENTARILY DROPS HIS EYES— IN A FLASH THE MARINE'S HAND SWEEPS GUN OUT OF LINE WITH BODY.....

FINAL ACTION: THE ENEMY IS NOW HELPLESS. FURTHER PRESSURE WILL BREAK HIS ARM.... HE CAN EASILY BE KILLED OR KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS IN THIS POSITION.....
